COLUMBUS — A shift in ntiment indicated today the hio legislature would vote ext week to return the state Eastern Standard Time, an our slower than the present stern war time.

A segment of the senate, which d questioned the wisdom of ch a move, apparently has been nvinced that it would benefit th farm and war production.

The change of attitude was re- ected when the senate judiciary mmittee last night unanimously commended for passage a bill to fect the time change.

Earlier in the evening Gov. John . Bricker, who had taken a neu- al stand, told a farmers week dience he, too, believed the rmers and factories would be lped by a return to normal me.

He also expressed belief 75 per nt of the people of Ohio wanted e present daylight-saving ar- ngement abolished.

The time bill will be brought a vote in the senate Tues- ay. If approved there, it prob- bly would be passed by the ouse Wednesday or Thursday. is an emergency measure, in- nded to become effective upon actment.

It provides that clocks shall be ned back an hour on the first nday after the bill becomes ef- tive. The hour at which the ange would be made is 3 a. m., stern war time.

The enactment would result in time standards for Ohio be- se certain federal government

Combining of All Forces In Mediterranean Area Under One Command Seen.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA—(AP)—An Allied Mediterranean war conference attended by high military officers of the United States and Britain has been held here following the Casablanca conference of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, it was announced officially today.

The meeting was held in the headquarters of Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, American commander in chief in this theater, and for the United States was attended by General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff; Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the navy; Lieut. Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander in chief of army air forces and other high officers.

Britain was represented by Field Marshal Sir John Dill, head of the British joint staff mission in Washington; Admiral Sir Dudley Pound, first sea lord; General Sir Harold Alexander, commander in chief in the middle east; Vice Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, chief of combined operations (commandos) and others.

The seven men named conferred day and night for two days with Eisenhower after speeding eastward from the Roosevelt-Churchill meeting at Casablanca.

All the conferences centered around General Eisenhower This combined with the presence of General Alexander was taken as an indication the Allies were planning a union of all forces in the Mediterranean into one great theater with a coordinate command.

Such a step has been foreseen by military experts as a necessity

APPROVES BILL

Panel Would Make Union Chiefs Subject to Act.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The house judiciary committee approved legislation today to subject labor union leader to penalties—heavy fines and imprisonment—provided by the 1934 anti-racketeering act in cases involving interferences with interstate commerce movement, such as blocking truck shipments.

The legislation would subject to a maximum penalty for 20 years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000 anyone interfering with interstate commerce movements during wartime. Hobbs said it was aimed at practices of some labor unions blocking truck shipments because union labor was not employed.

Committee members said the legislation grew out of inability of the government to prosecute labor organizations under the anti-racketeering act for alleged interference with shipping in New York.

Yanks, RAF Hit Germany With Quadruple Raid

Blast Hitler War Foundries 4 Times In 36 Hours as More Nazis Give Up at Stalingrad and Soviets Increase Threat to Rostov.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(INS)—The Nazi-controlled Paris radio reported today that Anglo-American troops in the regions of Medjez-El-Bab and Bou Arada in Tunisia have begun an offensive against Axis forward positions.

(By Associated Press)

Russia's Caucasian armies were reported to have stormed back within 19 miles of the German-held Maikop oil fields in a surprise new thrust toward the Black sea today, while on the Stalingrad front a German general and several thousand additional cold, war-weary troops were said to have meekly surrendered.

Soviet dispatches indicated scarcely more than 6,000 Axis soldiers were left out of Adolf Hitler's original siege army of 220,000 caught in the Red army trap.

Other developments in the global conflict:

WESTERN AIR WAR—Allied bombers smashed at Hitler's war foundries for the fourth time in 36 hours before dawn today, completing a round-the-clock cycle of raids marked by the first all-American assault on the German homeland and the first attack on the Danish capital of Copenhagen.

The British air ministry said the RAF's biggest planes—giant Lancasters and Halifaxes each capable of carrying four two-ton "block-busters"—delivered the latest assault, striking at the industrial Rhineland.

The city of Duesseldorf was the main target, dispatches said, with the raiders dropping hundreds of tons of high explosives and incendiaries.

The air ministry described the raid as "heavy" and listed six RAF planes as missing.

Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Harris, chief of the RAF bomber command, hailed the tempestuous new offensive as the beginning of a campaign to "bust Germany wide open."

HITLER "PEACE BLITZ"—London quarters declared President Roosevelt's historic "unconditional surrender" conference with Prime Minister Churchill in North Africa had forestalled new German peace overtures, anticipated when Hitler speaks Saturday.

These quarters said Hitler had been expected to offer to withdraw his armies from western Europe while retaining territories occupied in Poland, Russia and the Balkans.

TOJO BOASTS OF CONQUESTS

Tells Diet Foundations Are Laid For Certain Victory Over the Allies.

(By Associated Press)

Coolly ignoring the fact that the Mikado's invasion armies were on the defensive on three fronts Guadalcanal, New Guinea and Burma — Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo of Japan boasted today that the Japanese armed forces had laid the foundations for "certain victory" over the Allies.

The premier, addressing parliament in Tokyo, asserted that Japan's position both for offense and defense had been completed by the establishment of outlying bases and by the conquests of vast natural resources.

"Of course," he added, "It will require great efforts on our part to make these resources demonstrate their real wealth and power."

Meanwhile, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced Allied casualties in the Papuan campaign in New Guinea, where a 15,000-man Japanese army has been exterminated, amounted to less than half the enemy's losses.

Gen. MacArthur said Allied figures included the sick as well as the killed and wounded. Many American and Australian troops were stricken with fever during the fighting in swamps and jungles.

"Probably no campaign in history against a thoroughly prepared and trained army produced such complete and decisive results with a lower expenditure of life and resources," Gen. MacArthur said.

SHED ROLE

Hitler and His Intuition Give Up War Direction.

LONDON —(U.P.)— Adolf Hitler, faced by disaster in Russia, has abandoned attempts to direct the war by his own intuition and has turned back the direction of military affairs to his generals, reports from the French frontier said today.

The German general staff, removed from control of military affairs after the German retreat from Moscow last winter, once again is making all the decisions, it was said.

Among the decisions already taken by the general staff, it was said, was a plan for a retreat to a 750-mile defense line in Russia that would be based on Kursk, thence run southward through Kharkov and have its southern end anchored on Sevastopol in Crimea.

Lausche, Civic Leaders Discuss Shut Down At Public Hall.

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Mayor Frank J. Lausche met today with civic group leaders to plan a possible shut down of the main arena, music hall, little theater and club rooms except on days of major events, and to cut the permanent staff of the Public Hall.

Lausche's action in laying off Herbert Buckman, commissioner of the Public Hall and Cleveland stadium was expected to be explained, although there was some question about the legality of the dismissal, effective Feb. 1.

CUTS BUS STOPS BY 10 PER CENT

Company Acts to Conform To ODT Regulations; Drivers Decide Cut-Offs.

About 10 per cent of the stops on city bus routes were eliminated yesterday in line with a reduction order of the Office of Defense Transportation, G. F. Van Tilburg, manager of Mansfield Rapid Transit Inc., said today.

"It is necessary that present buses last throughout the emergency and the conversion period which will follow," Van Tilburg explained, "and it is toward this end that the reduction was made. Not only is it expected to result in a savings of tires and gasoline but more vital yet, the mechanical parts of the buses."

ODT regulations provide that bus stops shall be from 800 to 1,000 feet apart, Van Tilburg said, although most Mansfield stops are less than 800 feet apart, even after part of the stops have been eliminated. Basis of elimination, he explained, had to do with inclination of the street and difficulty of starting after loading, principally, although a few other factors, such as number of passengers usually served, figured in

Dining Car Cook Charged With Murder In 'Lower 13' Slaying

(By Associated Press)

ALBANY, Ore. — A first degree murder charge which authorities said was based on circumstantial evidence and a reported confession, has been brought against a dining car cook in the slaying of a navy bride aboard a California-bound passenger train last Saturday.

District Attorney Harlow Weinrick filed the charge in justice court yesterday, naming Robert Folkes, 20, Los Angeles, second cook aboard a unit of the Southern Pacific's West Coast Limited as defendant. He is held in Los Angeles, where, Weinrick was informed, he made a statement admitting the killing.

The charge against Folkes constituted the first important development in the fantastic case since the morning, five days ago, when the body of Mrs. Martha Virginia James, 21, of Norfolk, Va., was found in the aisle of a sleeping car on the speeding train.

The comely young woman, four months' bride of Ensign Richard F. James, had been slashed across the throat as she lay in lower berth 13 of sleeper D.

In Los Angeles Detective Capt. Verne Rasmussen said Folkes admitted the killing, saying he had stabbed Mrs. James with a sharp boning knife at the instigation of an unidentified man.

Rasmussen said the admission was contained in a signed statement which the cook made after

MAYBE KIDS'LL LIKE RATIONING

Officials Consider Closing Schools During Registration.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Point food rationing may be a break for the school kids.

Ohio's schools may be closed for several days, in March or April, while 7,000,000 Ohioans ae registered for the new point rationing food books, State Education Director Kenneth C. Ray said today.

The state's 40,000 school teachers, who registered Ohioans for sugar and gasoline, soon will receive special OPA instructions on registering persons for the new books, Ray said.

CIGARETS NEXT?

Public Warned Tobacco Likely To Be Rationed This Year.

NEW YORK — (INS) — A warning that smoking tobacco and cigarets may be rationed before the end of the year was emphasized today both by leaders of the industry and government officials.

Principal threat to manufacturers seeking to meet the growing demand for cigarets is the shortage of glycerine, vital war material which is used in processing tobacco.

But even without rationing, smokers may expect to find a dwindling supply of their favorite brands due to the federal war economy program limiting civilian production.

'BRIGHT NOTE' FOR FARMERS

Bricker Declares Agriculture Back on Production Basis.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — The nation has learned that no man can regiment and dictate to agriculture, farmers attending the 31st annual farmers' weeks at Ohio State university were told by Governor Bricker today.

"Although there may be a lack of simple, unified direction in the nation's war plans," the governor asserted in his annual address to the farmers, "there is a bright note in the news that we're back on a program of production in American agriculture.

"Production is the only sound foundation for both agriculture and industry."

HEADS SCOUTS

James West Promoted from Rank of Top Executive.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Dr. James E. West, for the past 32 years chief scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America will become chief scout of the organization Feb. 1, it was learned today.

His place as chief scout executive will be taken by Dr. Elbert K. Fretwell, professor of education at Teachers college, Columbia university.

MAP JOB SET-UP FOR AIR DEPOT

Union Opens Headquarters In Shelby; Employment Office Awaits Program.

While C. W. Handley, manager of the federal employment office in Mansfield, said today his office had not received any orders for workers at the Shelby army air supply depot, plans were under way to set up an employment system to provide workers for the $3,000,000 government project.

Meanwhile, the AFL teamsters' union in Mansfield had opened an employment office at 28 West Main street in Shelby with W. L. Slagle, Mansfield, business representative of the union, in charge.

Handley said a few workers with specific skills who applied at the federal employment office here for jobs on the depot project were being referred to the AFL office since it was his understanding that all workers on the Shelby project must be union men.

"Our office has received no definite instructions about the union status of employes, but it's my opinion that only union men will be hired on the Shelby job," Handley asserted.

Handley added that a part-time federal employment office may be opened in Shelby later when the demand for workers on the air depot project becomes greater.

"Right now," he said, "our of-

1,000 Religious Census Workers Get Instruction

Nearly 1,000 Mansfield religious census workers were prepared to swing into action today after completing a course of training last night for the campaign to determine the church home or preference of every person in the city starting Monday, Feb. 8.

At least 80 per cent of the 1,500 persons pledged by the 33 participating churches to work in the campaign received their instructions and supplies at training sessions held in 10 school buildings last night. Colonels and majors heading the enterprise in various wards and precincts were in charge of the training.

Volunteers who did not receive their census cards may obtain them Sunday at each of the cooperating churches, Ralph Stanton, general chairman, explained today. Meanwhile majors will

'Putzi,' Ex-Friend of Hitler, Advises U. S. on Anti-Nazi War

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Dr. Ernst ("Putzi") Hanfstaengl, former intimate friend and chief foreign propaganda aid of Adolf Hitler, is today serving as a confidential adviser to the American government on several phases of the war to crush the Nazis.

Hanfstaengl was brought to Washington last summer from a Canadian concentration camp and his intimate knowledge of Hitler and the Nazi regime in Germany put to use in behalf of the United Nations. His present whereabouts is regarded as a military secret.

For 14 years one of Hitler's closest personal friends, Hanfstaengl broke with the Nazis in 1937 and fled to London to escape death at the hands of Hitler's gestapo. When the war started, the British sent Han-

Congress Begins Hunt for New Revenue

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Speaking For Myself.

If the state of California is bent on killing the goose that laid the golden egg—and I mean the motion picture industry, which furnishes employment and revenue to thousands of Californians — its officials have certainly gone about it in the right manner in the handling of the Errol Flynn case and the recent episode of Frances Farmer.

Kilgallen

There is nothing like a photograph in the daily papers of a famous actor being arrested on two charges of criminal assault, followed by a revolting picture of an actress hauled in for drunkenness, to make the public go "Click! Click! Those Hollywood people are a terrible bunch"—and any practised observer knows how quickly this sort of public sentiment, can ruin a whole industry that might in many ways be a factor for great good.

And aside from this purely practical aspect, there is the terrible bad taste involved in allowing any woman to be photographed when she is drunk and in custody. There is no day in New York when a photographer, allowed into the psychopathic division at Bellevue, couldn't take shots of alcoholics, deranged persons, and derelicts that would top the Frances Farmer picture by miles for sheer horror. But that couldn't happen here. Authorities in this wicked city long ago adopted the quaint notion that the first rule in handling those who are mentally, morally, or emotionally ill is decent privacy.

There's renewed talk in these parts about changing the taxi system of the city to permit doubling up, as it's done in cab-hungry Washington, D. C., and I am whole-heartedly in favor of the plan.

There is something particularly irritating in these gasless days about watching a cab spin by with a customer sitting inside in solitary (and very lucky) grandeur. Besides, it would make taxing far more exciting for the average man if the possibility beckoned that, at the next corner, Wendell Willkie or Milton Berle or Lana Turner might join the party.

Some modern-minded cab company ought to take the first step—possibly even install hostesses for the first few weeks until the custom catches on.

I would like, at this point, to urge Hunt Stromberg of Hollywood to watch his cycles. Stromberg has a way of starting them—whether deliberately or not, I don't know—so that every time he announces a new picture I get a little nervous for fear that it will start a trend that I, as a rabid movie-goer, won't be able to take.

It was his "Thin Man" series that started all the movie companies to grinding out murder mysteries with well-dressed detectives who had flippant wives and drinking friends and every-corpse-a-big-laugh sort of thing. (That, I liked). Then he put Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald together and touched off a parcel of romantic musical films. Now he has whipped up a little number called "Lady of Burlesque" and a half dozen other studios have followed his lead by announcing the production of other stories dealing with the bump-and-grind circuit. I guess that's all right, too.

But I hope, I really hope, that he won't make any sagas about certified public accountants or internal revenue collectors. That might get to be awfully depressing, especially around March 15.

I'm in favor of Henny Youngman's practise of looking around this part of the country for army camps to which not too many USO shows make their way, and giving a performance there. Camp shows do a wonderful job, but inevitably here and there a post will get less than its share of attention.

The notion of Henny functioning as a wandering minstrel, his joke pack on his back and a copy of Variety in hand instead of a lute, is strangely appealing.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD - Miss Ann Harding, who to these eyes is the truly beautiful woman of the movies, is enjoying a well-earned rest from the slings and arrows of outrageous and pitiless scenario-writers.

Miss Harding is not suffering nobly, bearing her woes in silence, or giving her all with her chin held high. She is not protecting a weak, taking the rap for another's sin, nor playing the piper proudly for her own.

Coons

She is merely living her natural, gracious self, with no orders on her gilt, feminine shoulders other than the smart hats, gowns and furs which would have been worn by the wife of the former U. S. ambassador to Russia—Mrs. Joseph E. Davies.

* * *

This stroke of fortune is due, of course, to the fact that for the first time Miss Harding is playing a real-life, living character, one who is a frequent visitor on the set where her husband's book, "Mission to Moscow," is being filmed. Scenarists who tested the depths of the Harding capacity for nobility and suffering in her earlier films like "Holiday," "Devotion," and "East Lynne" must now toe the line in dealing with realities.

And so Miss Ann Harding gets her holiday from woe.

Miss Harding, with her classic profile and ash-blonde hair, is making no more attempt to look like Mrs. Davies, who is beautiful also, than Walter Huston is making to look like the former ambassador.

"I think there's been a mistake in casting," she says. "I think Mr. and Mrs. Davies should be playing themselves — they're both charming. But I'm playing the role as Mrs. Davis described it: an ambassador's wife is a background figure. She is pleasant and agreeable, a good hostess and a pleasant guest. I say 'How do you do?' a great many times—I'm trying to use different inflections on it." She laughs: "I'm afraid it's a bit part, really. Mr. Huston and I go through the story, observing a lot of fine acting by other people, but we ourselves don't have much to do."

Miss Harding, in gay good spirits, is living close to Hollywood again. For the duration, at least, she has given up the idyllic ranching life she and her husband, Werner Janssen, the symphony conductor and composer, used to enjoy.

FLYNN RETURNS TO STAND FOR SECOND DENIAL

Fans Hear Him Declare He Never Attacked Girl During Yacht Trip.

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES — Handsome Errol Flynn was called back to the witness stand today to deny that he was intimate with 17-year-old Betty Hansen—the stand where yesterday he solemnly denied violating 16-year-old Peggy La Rue Satterlee.

The dapper screen star, testifying at his trial on statutory rape charges, told the jury and a breathless roomfull of Flynn fans it was not true that he was guilty of misconduct with Miss Satterlee aboard his yacht off Catalina island one night in August, 1941, nor, was he intimate with her the next day en route back to the mainland.

On the Saturday night when Miss Satterlee alleges he entered her stateroom and made love to her, Flynn declares, he went to bed in his own quarters soon after the party of four had returned from shore. He denied he went to her cabin.

Defense Attorney Jerry Giesler asked:

"Did you have any act of sexual intercourse with her?"

"I did not," the actor declared emphatically.

"Did she say, 'I am J. B.—jail bait' and did you say you would be willing to take your chances on that?"

"I said no such thing then or any other time."

On the return trip next day—when, Miss Satterlee testified, Flynn invited her below deck to see the moon through a porthole, and then again violated her—Flynn said he was away from the wheel only once or twice. These absences, he said, were for only about five minutes each.

"Did you at any time on the way back from Catalina have an act of sexual relations with Miss Satterlee?" his attorney asked.

"No, I didn't," Flynn answered.

DOUBLE FUNERAL

Rites For Auto Victims To Be at Shelby Friday.

SHELBY—Funeral services for Carl F. Wycoff, 44, and his wife, Alice, victims of a traffic accident Tuesday night south of Fredericktown, will be conducted Friday at 1 p. m. at the Barkdull Funeral home in Shelby and Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at Alliance.

Rev. J. C. Searle, pastor of the United Brethren church at Shelby, will officiate. Burial will be in Beechwood cemetery at Alliance. The bodies were returned to Shelby today from Mt. Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wycoff were killed instantly while returning from funeral services for her brother in Lancaster Tuesday. The car in which they were riding was reported to have sideswiped one driven by C. L. Moushey of Mt. Vernon, then collided almost headon with a Fairlick Stages bus. The bus driver, Richard G. Sponseller, Mansfield and four passengers were injured.

Wycoff was manager of the shoe department at Sanger's store at Shelby. He and Mrs. Wycoff formerly lived in Alliance.

The couple's 15-year-old daughter, Glenna Jean, who escaped the accident because she didn't want to miss school, was taken to Alliance yesterday to make her home with relatives. She was the only child in the home.

LINK NEGROES TO JAP 'BUND'

Officials Charge Four Were Members of Group Which Enemy Financed.

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO—The government charged today in the sedition trial of four negroes that they were connected with the "peace movement to Ethiopia" which allegedly was financed by Japanese funds for the purpose of inciting a revolution in the United States.

George Johnson, negro inmate of the Menard penitentiary in Illinois, testified that in 1934 an unidentified Japanese gave him $300 to recruit members for the movement who were to help overthrow the government when war broke out.

The Jap, Johnson asserted, said he was the backer of the movement and that war between Japan and the United States was inevitable.

Johnson testified that Mrs. Mittie Maud Lena Gordon, her husband, William Green Gordon, David James Logan, and Scon Emanuel Jones, all officers of the Chicago chapter and the defendants on trial, asked him to join in 1933 after he had been paroled, but that he had refused.

He added that he voluntarily turned himself over to prison officials for violating his parole because he feared he would be killed.

Mrs. Ethel Waddell testified that when she was Mrs. Gordon's secretary she heard Mrs. Gordon say she "wouldn't have an American flag over her head, and if there was one she would remove it."

SUIT CHARGES EMBEZZLEMENT

Plaintiff Claims $3,937 Due From Former Guardian.

Alleging embezzlement and personal use of funds, William Dow, of Chicago, formerly of Mansfield, filed suit for $3,937 and interest from Sept. 21, 1941, in common pleas court yesterday against Herbert Slough, Fairview hotel, who acted as his guardian while he was yet a minor, and Slough's bonding company, United States Fidelity and Guaranty company.

Dow alleged in his complaint that after Slough filed an account showing a balance of $4,707 and certain stocks on hand, he paid the plaintiff $770 cash and induced him to give a receipt for the balance of $3,937. Further, the complaint stated, Slough embezzled funds and property that belonged to the plaintiff, used fraudulent means to induce the court to approve final settlement of the estate and did not pay the plaintiff the same amount that the receipt showed.

Dow says he did not become aware of the alleged falsity until July 1, 1942.

LIQUOR'S SHORT

So West Virginia Will Close Nine of Its Stores.

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—(U.P.)—State Liquor Commissioner Carl G. Bachmann announced today that nine liquor stores in West Virginia will close Feb. 1 because of the shortage of liquor supplies and a loss in sales and revenue.

The stores that will be closed are two in Charleston, one each at Bluefield, Huntington, Clarksburg, Wheeling, Weirton, Fairmont, and Parkersburg.

URGES FARMERS TO RENT THEIR POWER EQUIPMENT TO NEIGHBORS

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Ohio farmers with power equipment were urged today to rent their machines to neighbors to help attain increased crop goals this year.

C. B. Richey of Ohio State university's department of agricultural engineering told Ohioans attending Farmer's Week here that the school had prepared a bulletin giving fair rental charges for machines on a co-operative basis.

"The present national situation, wherein the farmer is being asked to produce more with less labor than ever before, makes it even more important that farm equipment be used with maximum efficiency," Richey's account said.

He advocated repair of old machines wherever practicable and renting machines from neighbors not working them to capacity.

"If one good machine has sufficient capacity to do the work on two farms instead of one, the cost to both the owner and the renter should be considerably less than when each owns a good machine," Richey said.

He said Ohio this year would get only 23 per cent of the amount of equipment purchased in the state during 1940. Ohioans bought about 12,000 tractors annually for the past three years but will be able to obtain only 2,600 this year, he said.

He said tractors were allocated on a crop production basis but that hard-to-get sprayers and dusters were apportioned to places where they were needed most.

PROFITS DROP

Shelby Salesbook Reports $271,978 For 1942.

Heavier federal taxes reduced net profit of the Shelby Salesbook company in 1942 to $271,978 as compared with $319,763 in 1941, a drop of 15 per cent, the firm's annual statement to stockholders showed today.

With the sales volume about the same last year as in 1941, W. W. VanHorn, president of the company, said taxes totaled $371,619 in 1942 as against $245,263 in the preceding year.

Profits before taxes were deducted amounted to $643,305 last year and $564,300 in 1941, the report showed.

Dividends last year dropped to $3.25 from $4 in 1941. The company had 492 employes at the end of 1942, VanHorn said.

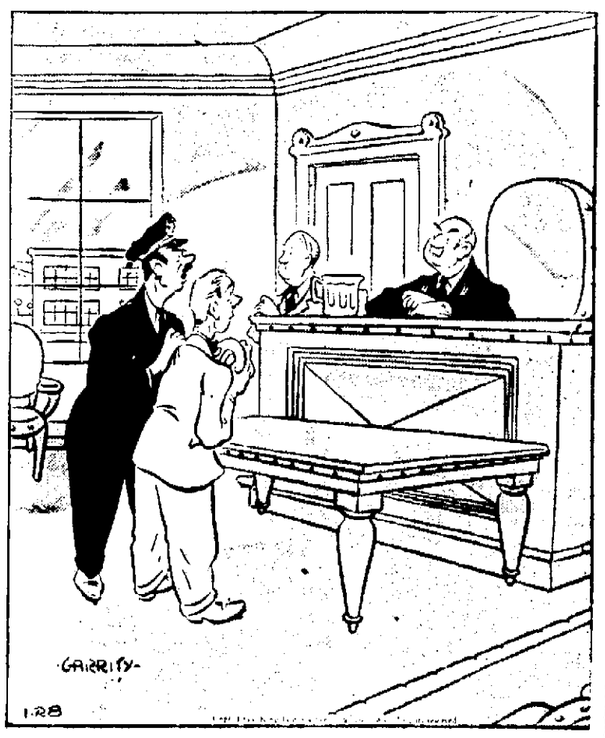
FACES ANIMAL TORTURE COUNT

Cass Township Farmer to Get Hearing Saturday.

Hearing in the case of Richard Noecker, Cass township farmer, on a charge of torturing animals was continued in Municipal court this morning until Saturday.

Noecker was ordered into court on a warrant signed by Humane Officer Marie L. Menchan. The charge had to do with his alleged failure to feed, water and provide winter bedding for seven milk cows, three heifers and three horses. First complaints in the case were registered with Cass township trustees, who got in touch with Sheriff Frank Robinson, who, in turn, ordered the investigation which led to filing of the charge.

Laff-a-Day



"He was walkin' on his rubber heels at an excessive rate of speed!"

Resumption of the fortnightly Saturday "No Man's Night" parties at the Y. W. C. A. spells activity again for out of school girls and service men's wives. The latter particularly welcome the affairs because as they express it "the parties give us something special to do." The affair this week, featuring folk dancing and games, begins at 8 p. m. and concludes at 10 p. m. Mrs. Leo Brown is co-hostess with Mrs. Jessie Crane, Y. W. C. A. secretary or girls.

It's a hog hunt that is occupying attention of farmers in the Lexington vicinity. Sheriff's officers were asked to join in the search today. Mrs. William S. Volz, who resides on the Lexington-Ontario road about a mile south of Lexington, is the owner of the missing swine, a black Poland China. Staunchly believing in the honesty of her neighbors, Mrs. Volz said it is possible that someone somewhere has confined the livestock and is awaiting her call.

The question of what to do with used razor blades confronted Mansfield Boy Scouts today. In the midst of a drive to collect safety razors for use by sailors losing their personal belongings in ship wrecks, the Scouts have received a number of old blades along with contributions of old razors. Does some one have use for them or is there some method for their salvage? Boy Scout headquarters would like to know about it.

The Lucas village school became the first in Richland county to remove a school bus from service in line with the ODT curtailment plan. The six buses serving the district were reduced to five yesterday after N. H. Heston, banker and bus driver, voluntarily asked that his contract be cancelled. His route has been absorbed by three other routes that previously had passed near it. All schools of the county have been required to submit detailed drawings and information justifying mileage of their routes to County Superintendent Boyd Robinson. Other schools have eliminated mileage, Robinson reported.

CURRENT TAX COLLECTION PLAN STUDIED

Senators Protest FDR Fails To Confide Sufficiently In Legislators.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins (R.) Ohio's member of the tax-writing ways and means committee, forecasts passage of a pay-as-you-go plan by the time the first installment of last year's income tax is due March 15.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — A toilsome hunt for new revenue sources that will feed more billions into war financing and consideration of a pay-as-you-earn tax plan officially began today in the new congress.

The job of initiating the search for $16,000,000,000 in taxes and compulsory loans in addition to the $35,000,000,000 expected to be produced annually from existing levies fell to the house ways and means committee opening its first session of the year.

Another development was a complaint that President Roosevelt does not confide sufficiently in congress. The protests brought renewed requests for creation of a bi-partisan "liaison" committee to bring about a better understanding between the White House and the capitol.

The 25-member house committee, headed by Representative Doughton (D.-N. C.), was expected to consider the pay-as-you-go tax proposal apart from other tax problems and limit hearings in an effort to place income tax collecting on a current basis by March 15.

One such plan, suggested by Beardsley Paul, chairman of the federal reserve bank of New York, would skip taxes on income earned in 1942. A modified version, proposed by Representative Robertson (D.-Va.), called for elimination only of lower-bracket 1942 income taxes and imposition of a 2 per cent withholding levy on current income of all taxpayers after allowable deductions. Doughton, however, has voiced strong opposition to general erasure of 1942 obligations.

Four senate committee members who took the plan for a "liaison" committee under advisement, showed little enthusiasm for it.

Formation of such a committee was urged after both Senator Maloney (D.-Conn.) and Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) protested that the president had requested legislation without previously consulting congressional leaders.

The house military committee, concerned lest hundreds of small liberal arts colleges are crippled financially by being left out of the military training program undertaken in cooperation with colleges and universities, sought data from War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt on how the smaller institutions would fare.

Didn't Mind Nazi Opposition, But It Sure Was Cold

A FLYING FORTRESS BASE SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND — (U.P.) —First Lieut. Berman Smith, Marietta, O., co-pilot of one of the first American-manned Flying Fortresses to strike at Germany proper, didn't mind the Nazi anti-aircraft fire or the Messerschmitts.

It was the cold that bothered him and his pilot, Capt. John W. Eanes, Shreveport, La.

Their cockpit heater broke as they were taking off with one of three waves of Fortresses which struck heavy blows at German naval installations at Wilhelmshaven, so they took turns sitting on their hands in their craft.

The officers reported that temperatures reached 36 degrees below zero at the extremely high altitudes at which they approached their targets.

DIES AT HOME.

FREDERICKTOWN—James H. Wiggins, 93, died early today at his home north of Waterford following complications developed from influenza. A daughter, Mrs. Loretta Huffman, survives. The body was removed to the Bollinger funeral home and will be taken to Berea Friday for services and burial.

HOARDERS TO BE HIT BY POINT RATION SYSTEM

OPA Warns That If You Stock Up on One Thing, You'll Get Less of Others.

(By International News Service)

CLEVELAND — The office of price administration today warned housewives who "get set" for point rationing by purchasing canned goods in case lots or other large quantities, that their hoarding may backfire on them.

The biggest loser in any such hoarding, said Clifford J. Houser, OPA regional rationing executive, will be the housewife. In the first place, he said housewives will have to declare the amount of canned goods on hand when they register for war ration book No. 2.

Although they will not have to surrender their surplus, he said that war price and ration boards will remove coupons equal in point value to the accumulated canned goods.

Then, Houser continued, if the housewives are unable to exchange their hoard of canned goods with their grocer for a more balanced supply, they will find themselves eating beans, peas, tomatoes or some other vegetable for a long time.

Another disadvantage of hoarding canned goods also was pointed out by the regional executive. A high point value will be assigned to the canned goods which are scarce and a low point value will be given to those that are more plentiful, so if the housewives hoard certain vegetables and fruits their point value will rise and they will be able to buy less later.

COLLECTS SALVAGE

ATLANTA, Ga.—(INS)—Approximately 8,000,000 pounds of salvage was collected, classified and shipped to war industries in November by army posts and camps in southeastern states, according to reports compiled by the salvage section of the quartermaster branch of the Fourth Service Command. Salvage items ranged all the way from bones and kitchen fats to old motor vehicles.

Your Federal Income Tax

NO. 22:

NCOME FROM ANNUITIES

Annuities have become a popu- form of investment in recent ars, and because of the nature annuity income especial treat- nt is required in the prepara- n of a Federal income tax re- rn.

Several forms of annuities are nd, but the most common are nuity contracts issued by insur- ce companies. An endowment urance policy may be payable the beneficiary in monthly or nual sums for a period stipulat- in the policy, frequently for the of the beneficiary or a person y purchase, for a flat sum, an nuity policy from an insurance company which provides him with a monthly or annual income for life. In such annuity contracts, a portion of the payments received represents interest on the sum or sums paid for the policy or contract, and a portion represents a gradual return of the principal to the annuitant. Only that portion of the payments which represents interest on the cost of the policy or contract is taxable income, and for purposes of uniformity the law provides that this portion shall be considered as 3 per cent of the cost until there has been excluded from gross income an amount equal to the principal sum paid for the policy. Thereafter, the entire amount of the annuity is taxable income.

Annuity income, accordingly, must be reported in the Federal income tax return, whether the annuity is a gift received from some one else, or received as the proceeds, to a beneficiary, of a life insurance policy issued to another.

If the annuity derives from a straight annuity contract, then the cost to be shown would be the amount of the single premium paid for the policy. If the annuity is received by the policyholder of an endowment insurance contract, payable in installments to the policyholder, then the cost is the sum of the premiums paid for the policy.

In addition to the cost of the policy, as stated above, there must be considered the amount of the annuity income received during the year. The portion of this annuity income which is taxable, namely, 3 per cent of the cost of the policy, is the amount to be entered in item 7 of the return Form 1040; the balance is nontaxable and is to be applied against the cost of the policy. When the taxpayer has received nontaxable income in this manner equaling the cost of the policy, thereafter the whole annuity income each year must be entered as taxable income in item 7 of return Form 1040.

The principles set forth above for the treatment of annuity income apply also to retirement income, annuity pensions, and other forms of annuities. In the case of retirement income and pensions, where no payments have been made for the income, then the whole amount of the income is taxable (except for pensions to War veterans and their families.)

JUST MISSES DEATH, GALION YOUTH REPORTS

Cpl. Edward Hill Tells Mother Accident in North Africa Nearly Got Him.

GALION—In a letter to Mrs. Clara Hill, 141 North Riblet street, from her son, Cpl. Edward Hill, she learned that he had a narrow escape in North Africa. The letter relates that he was going home in a car and the tommy gun of one of his companions accidentally discharged and just missed him. He said that if he hadn't moved over just a second before, he would have been killed, as he had been looking down the barrel of the gun.

Cpl. Hill entered the army on Sept. 30, 1941, and went to Ireland, then to England, before being sent to North Africa.

HONOR PASTOR

GALION—Rev. William Pfeifer who leaves Galion Feb. 3 for his new parish at Findlay after serving several years here as assistant to the late Rev. A. H. Schreiner, was honored at the regular meeting of the Willing Workers, Wednesday night, in the parish house. He was presented with a purse from the society.

A potluck supper was enjoyed and games were played during the evening. The committee in charge of the event was composed of Mrs. Alvin Fabian, Mrs. Joseph Schnauz, Pauline Faber and Mrs. Mary Fabian.

SET DATE FOR DANCE

GALION—Feb. 5 is the date set for the dance at the Galion Eagles hall, according to plans announced Wednesday night at the regular meeting of Galion aerie, F. O. E.

One application for new membership was received. The business session was followed by a lunch served by Roy Hubley and his committee.

HEADS DRIVE

Raymond Pugh New Chairman of Shelby Committee.

SHELBY—Raymond Pugh has been named chairman of the Shelby Red Cross War Fund drive for a quota of approximately $12,000, starting on March 1.

Serving on the general committee will be Howard Beck, Harry Sotzen, George Reichert, Mrs. C. C. Fish, Miss Gladys Baker, Rev. J. C. Searle and Mrs. B. B. Brown. Later, 75 volunteer workers will be named to conduct a canvass during the drive.

Last year Shelby raised over $7,000 to set the best per capita rating marked up in the United States. The increase in the quota this year is due to the war activities being carried on by the Red Cross.

News In Crawford County Courts

BUCYRUS — Common Pleas Court:

Approval of the court of an agreement regarding custody of minor children has been given in the divorce action of Nola Bumstead against Allen D. Bumstead. Terms of the agreement provide that the children be held in the custody of Mrs. Bumstead during the school months and be given into the custody of their father during the three summer months.

Judgment for $8,000, agreed upon as the sum due in alimony arrearage was rendered in Common pleas court by Judge H. E. Culberson of Ashland county, in favor of Marion G. Lingenfelter. Lingenfelter was further ordered by the court to pay $100 per month to Marion Long-stetler beginning March 1, 1943.

Wilful absence is charged in a divorce action filed by Dakota Noose against Leech F. Noose.

STARTS WORK ON ARMY JOB

GALION—Production will start within the next week at the Stratbury Manufacturing company on a contract for the manufacture of a large quantity of battle dress overcoats for the army, according to announcement Wednesday by the Philadelphia Quartermaster depot of the War department.

It will take 165 days to complete the order which is the first of this type of garment received by the Galion concern. The company makes nationally advertised Alpagora, Alpagora Tweed and Stratbury topcoat and overcoat.

BOARD ELECTS AT CRESTLINE

Decides to Close Library Each Wednesday to Conserve Village Funds.

CRESTLINE—All officers were re-elected at the annual meeting of the Crestline Library board recently at the library. They are:

Mrs. C. E. Dewald, president; Mrs. C. E. Cook, vice president, and A. A. Remy, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. W. E. Lyman was re-elected to the board and other members in addition to those named above include Misses Elizabeth O'Leary, Marie Welshon, Harry Cassel and Orie Garverick. Miss Welshon was retained as librarian.

The financial report for the year was given by A. A. Remy. Mrs. Cook, as chairman of the committee for the memorial book shelf at the library, gave her 10th annual report which listed 101 books now on the shelf.

The board decided that due to lack of funds to operate full time, the library will hereafter be closed on Wednesday of each week. The board meets on the third Monday of each month at 4:30 p. m.

An informal party is being planned for some time in February by the Girl Reserves. Guests will be invited, this event to take the place of the annual "sweetheart" party. Date and place are to be decided by the social committee of which Janice Egner is chairman, and the program committee which is headed by Carol Lemley.

The affair was discussed at the regular meeting of the organization at Senior high school Tuesday. Martha Ritzhaupt presided for the business session, and the devotional period was in charge of Shirley Seif. At the next meeting which is set for two weeks, a book review will be given by Miss Josephine Tracht of the faculty.

Shelby's Letter Writing Champion Takes War Job

SHELBY—Believing she was not doing enough for the war effort by writing an average of once a week to 67 Shelby area youths in the armed services, Mrs. Earl Brissell of Shelby, whose son, Billy, is in the navy, today had accepted a defense job here with the Miller Products plant.

Mrs. Brissell, who says that she is still going to keep up the huge correspondence to the area youths, started writing to a number of Billy's friends shortly after he enlisted in the navy on Dec. 8, 1941, to become Richland county's first enlistee after the Pearl Harbor attack. Later she wrote to others after she received replies that said the youths enjoyed hearing from home town folks.

Mrs. Brissell was active in getting the Navy Mother's club started here last year and assisted that group in collecting gifts for boxes that were sent to Shelby area youths serving in the navy, coast guard and marines. She mailed out 200 Christmas cards to the armed service members.

Her son, Billy, is serving on a cruiser in the Pacific. He was wounded in active service. Besides writing to the area youths, Mrs. Brissell keeps up an almost daily correspondence with her son.

GOES TO HOSPITAL

CRESTLINE—Mrs. T. C. Yaney of Crestline street was admitted to Emergency hospital Wednesday. Dismissals the same day included Mrs. Edwin Link to her home on Wiley street and Mrs. Homer Brown, North Henry street.

CALL TRUCE IN LABOR DISPUTE AT FAULTLESS

Ashland Firm Resumes Work on War Contracts as 450 Workers Return.

ASHLAND — War contract work was back in full swing today at the Faultless Rubber company plant following an agreement between the management and employes which broke the work stoppage Wednesday afternoon.

All 450 employes returned to the plant Wednesday afternoon, including the pickets who had prevented entry of all but supervisors, office and maintenance workers, following a walkout of 35 press room employes at 7 p. m. Monday.

Joseph Koeval of the War Production board arranged the meeting of company representatives and the executive board of Local 196 of the rubber workers union which resulted in a decision by workers to resume production on the same basis as that which existed prior to the walkout.

Union officials said today that the wage policy which has been effective in the press room is still to be determined and that this dispute may be submitted to the War Labor board.

The difficulties were partly ironed out at a meeting of company representatives and the grievance committee of the union Wednesday afternoon after work had been resumed.

In a statement issued by Edward L. Wertz, president of Local 196, URW, following the return of workers, he said he had unintentionally stated Tuesday that employes of the rubber company were working without a contract, whereas a contract was actually signed one week ago, effective Dec. 15, and employes have been working under this agreement since that time. All items except union shop, checkoff and wages are covered by the contract. Further negotiations will complete coverage of these items, he said.

Wertz said press operators walked out Monday night after they were notified by foremen their pay rates would be reduced from 80 to 47½ cents an hour. Other unionists joined the walkout, which Wertz said was unauthorized.

Faultless Rubber makes surgical and other supplies for the army and navy.

READY FOR DUTY

BUCYRUS—Lieut. John Kiess, Bucyrus physician and surgeon, who has been taking military instruction and physical conditioning at the Army Air Force Officers' Training school at Miami Beach for six weeks, has completed the training and is awaiting assignment. He has been sent to MacDill Field, Tampa, to await placement.

Mrs. Kiess, who has been with her husband at Miami Beach since before Christmas, returned home Wednesday.

3 CRESTLINE SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASSES MEET; OTHER NOTES

CRESTLINE — Three classes of Calvary Reformed Sunday school held meetings Tuesday evening.

The Y.G.I.G class and two guests, Mrs. Ed Sprow and Catherine Greter, met in the home of Mrs. Walter Hoffman on Washington avenue. Mrs. Paul Emmer had charge of devotions and the business session and gave a report of work done at the Service Center last Friday.

Hostesses for the Win-One class meeting held in the church basement were Mrs. E. L. Capell, Mrs. Earl Hoffman and Mrs. B. J. Pry. Rook was played following the business session in charge of Mrs. William McCandles and devotions led by Mrs. Paul Kindinger. Hostesses for the February meeting will be Mrs. A. W. Nash, Mrs. Fred McKim and Mrs. Kindinger.

The Ever Ready class met in the home of Mrs. Arthur Spell.

Mrs. Sherman Holt was received as a new member. Mrs. Harry Farnworth led the devotionals and Mrs. D. C. Furry presided.

An informal meeting to discuss plans for the year was held by the Brotherhood at Trinity Lutheran church Tuesday evening.

Harold Kraner, the new president, was in charge of the meeting and led the discussion which included objectives of the Brotherhood and programs for the meetings of the year.

Rev. C. H. Lange led the devotionals and acted as installing officer when Kraner was installed as president, and Russell Fisher as secretary.

* * *

Mrs. Raymond Lewis, assisted by Mrs. K. E. Moorehead, entertained the Emanon club in the home of the former recently. Pinochle and euchre were played with prizes awarded and lunch served.

Mrs. C. A. Cowgill and Mrs. Vaughn will be hostesses for the Feb. 23 meeting.

KEEPS OFFICERS

Can you stand another story about the riotous way of life on Ram Hill? Here's another anecdote related by Operative Paul the Whizzer White.

Seems that Al Fendrick, coach of the Madison Rams, bought his daughter Ann, a four-foot toboggan for Christmas. At least Christmas and the fact that he had a daughter were Al's excuse to Mrs. F. for the purchase of the sled.

But Fendrick is the lad who did the coasting, shooting down the long hills around Mifflin and Widowville, jumping fences and ditches, and streaking across frozen ponds and streams until who wouldn't have it.

"I wouldn't ride on that thing with him for any amount of money," declares Mrs. F., "and neither is Ann going to do it." So it's Al's toboggan.

Now Al Kipp, former Madison athlete who still keeps a finger in Ram sports, heard so many stories about Al's wild life on the snow, he went to see the Fendrick toboggan and was quickly convinced that this was the life for him.

But Kipp is not the kind of a lad to go purchase a toy when he can build it himself. Last summer he made one visit to Charles Mill, saw the sailboats gliding about over the water, and went home and built himself a boat—just before they lowered the Charles Mill water level and left a stump hazard for the sailors.

And this time Kipp went home and built himself, not a four-foot, but a nine-foot toboggan, something to show its heels to the Flying Fendrick.

So what happened? Did Kipp coast rings around Fendrick? Did he set new records for daring-do in jumping fences and ditches and frozen ponds? This is what happened:—Came the thaw, and the snow departed.

Mansfield keglerettes have no fears—of wartime transportation problems.

No less than 10 Mansfield teams have entered the Northern Ohio Women's handicap tournament at Tiffin Feb. 13-14, which means that 50 to 60 Mansfield gals will buck the transportation problem on the 13th day of the month.

That's a record for Mansfield entries in a women's tournament out of town—and in a war year.

Teams signed up before entries closed Tuesday were: A. F. of L., DeMilo Beauty Shop, Hergatt's Lettering, Hawkinson Treads, Hunt's News, Kay's Shoppe, K. & D. Cafe, Lucille's Beauty Nook, Orange St. Cafe, and Schmutzler's Cafe.

It will be the first tournament trip for most of the gals, and the veterans are already studying ways and means of initiating the neophytes.

Columbus Bids for A.A.U. Swim Meet

COLUMBUS—(NS)—Columbus will make a bid for the National A. A. U. outdoor swimming championships within the next week, Mike Peppe, Ohio State university's varsity tank coach announced today. If the bid is successful the meet will be held in Olympic pool which meets A. A. U. specifications, Peppe said.

Columbus has never been host to the outdoor championship meet. The indoor championships were held at Ohio State in 1931, 1938 and 1939. Last year the outdoor meet was held at New London, Conn., but one dividing event was transferred here to Olympic pool.

The O. S. U. varsity swimmers make their first home appearance this year in the Ohio A. A. U. championships, Saturday Feb. 13, in varsity pool. Michigan swimmers will invade the Buck natatorium Feb. 20.

Ohio State's next meet is with Purdue at Lafayette on Saturday Feb. 6. Indiana's scheduled meet here was cancelled by the Hoosiers.

John Simpson cagers invade the Y. M. C. A. gym tomorrow night for a clash with the "Y" Junior five.

The Bulldogs are undefeated this season while the Juniors have won five and lost seven.

Derringer Sold to Chicago

Cubs Roundout Staff Of Righthanders.

By ARNOLD DERLITZKI

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs, who believe they "have a chance to go places this season," may have taken a step in the right direction last night in acquiring Paul Derringer, veteran Cincinnati pitcher.

* * *

Certainly they had the right handed pitchers—an entire starting staff as a result of the cash deal—and there was every indication it would be strictly righthanders the Cubs would rely on in their 1943 title bid.

Any Southpaw hurler must be developed from this year's recruits. Last year's lefties, Vern Olsen, Johnny Schmitz and Russ Meers, have entered military service.

The 36 year old Derringer, who has spent 12 years in the Majors—the last 10 with Cincinnati—will team up with such likely right hand starters as Claude Passeau, Bill Lee, Lon Warneke, Les Fleming, Tot Pressnell and possibly Dick Barrett, 34-year-old veteran of the minors obtained from Seattle.

James Gallagher, general manager, said, "I believe we have a chance to go places this season and we needed another pitcher." The purchase price was not disclosed, but some sources put at $15,000.

Derringer, although bothered by an old injury, appeared in 29 games last season, winning 10, losing 11 and finishing with an earned run average of 3.06. Before the transaction was completed Manager Jimmy Wilson, a former Cincinnati teammate of Derringer's, said he was convinced the veteran would turn out high class work for at least another season.

* * *

Derringer himself recently asked to be traded or sold and the Red management indicated he had been in one place long enough. Derringer indicated a preference for the Cubs. The big righthander always has been a Cub nemesis and has beaten the Bruins twice for almost every defeat handed out by the Chicagoans.

REDS NEAR LIMIT

CINCINNATI—(AP)—One thing sure, that May 15 deadline for cutting the roster to 25 men will be easy for the Cincinnati Reds.

With the sale of big Paul Derringer to the Chicago Cubs, the Reds are down to 26 already, at a time when a major league team usually can count in at least 40.

Further, the unseasonal reduction is hitting where it hurts most—in pitching. Derringer's departure leaves just eight hurlers. A good free-swinging doubleheader will wear them all out in one afternoon.

Derringer was Titular ace last year, but it was Bucky Walters, Johnny Vander Meer, and Ray Starr who kept the Reds from looping into second division.

Derringer suffered a head bump down in Florida that gave him occasional double vision and he was hit by a batted ball in spring training. Baseball being strictly non-charitable, opposing batters took full advantage of the off days resulting. He ended with 10 won, 11 lost.

Thus, Manager Bill McKechnie again will place his hopes of at least a first division spot on Vandy, Walters and Starr. Vandy, who regained his control to win 18 while dropping 12, is the youngest of the veterans.

Record Entry for Ice Meet Looms

Indications today pointed toward a new record entry list for the sixth annual Mansfield scholastic ice carnival scheduled at North lake Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, according to Athletic Director Harry Mehock.

The senior and junior high schools will have a bigger entry list than ever before, Mehock said, with teams rounded out by veterans who have come up through the grade school competition.

Grade schools today are holding an elimination preliminary meet, with Newman making a determined bid to overthrow the five-year supremacy of Western school in the ice carnival.

Schools entering the grade competition are: Western, Newman, West Fifth, Woodland, Carpenter and Hedges.

Captains named for high school teams are: Jim Voyik, sophomores, Bob Lash, juniors, and Jim Bierly, seniors.

Beulah Park Asks For Racing Dates

COLUMBUS—(NS)—The Beulah Park Jockey club, Inc., through its president, Robert J. Dienst, has filed an application requesting the dates of May 1 through May 31, the state racing commission announced today. The receipts of one of the 26-day meet at the Grove City track will be devoted entirely to war relief, Dienst proposed.

The racing commission also announced receipt of two other applications. They were Hamilton's request for 18 days, July 3-24 and Ascot park's request for a similar period from July 31 to Aug. 19.

WARMERDAM TO USE NEW SCRAP HEAP POLE

SAN FRANCISCO — (NS) — Using a new pole that he found in a college "scrap heap," Cornelius "Dutch" Warmerdam, the pole-vaulter, will renew his efforts to reach the 16-foot level at the Millrose games in Madison Square Garden Feb. 6, his coach announced today.

Warmerdam, who thrilled huge crowds in eastern meets last year when he vaulted 15 feet 7¼ inches, was highly optimistic about his new "pogo stick." He said it definitely gave him more lift over the bar.

Gain Revenge For Early Loss

Bellville Blue Jays Swamp Johnsville.

Bellville's Blue Jays today ranked as a distinct threat to the undefeated Richland county league record of the Lucas Cubs when they tangle tomorrow night at Lucas.

* * *

The Jays last night gained sweet revenge, 34-19 over a Johnsville club that defeated Bellville the first game of the season, indicating that the Birds are coming along to the point where they must be considered dangerous.

They were paced last night by Watkins who found the hoop for 19 points on nine buckets and one free toss. Bellville had only a 5-3 margin at the quarter, but boosted it to 12-5 at the half and 22-11 at the third quarter. The Blue Jays took the reserve prelim 23-16.

While the Cubs are defending their unbeaten record against Bellville tomorrow night, Madison Rams, also undefeated, will risk their record at Plymouth against another up and coming team that has won its last two games by two-point margins.

Other league tilts Friday will find Lexington at Union, and Ontario at Shiloh.

Brown Shifts Grid System

Throws Buckeye Squad Open To All Comers.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The war has forced Paul E. Brown, coach of Ohio State's national football champions, to change his system.

Brown, a believer in molding his team from a small select squad, will adopt a "more the merrier" policy for spring training.

Since his high school coaching days at Massillon Brown has restricted his squad to 40 or 45 men because he believed it impossible to work well with larger groups. But the expected loss of top players to the armed services required him to change his methods.

The Bucks will lose 11 gridmen, including several stars, when the army calls up enlisted reservists in the near future so Brown has opened gates to "anyone who believes he has football talent."

Buckeye veterans subject to call with the reservists are Fullback Gene Fekete, leading Big Ten scorer last year; fleet halfbacks Paul Sarringhaus and Tommy James; Guards Wib Schneider and Lin Houston; Captain-elect Charles Csuri, tackle; Ends Dante Lavelli and J. T. White; Halfbacks Bob Frye and Bill Durtschi, and Tackle Jimmy Rees.

Notre Dame Irish Lose 15 Gridders

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(NS)—Twelve varsity football players and three promising freshmen will be lost to the 1943 Notre Dame squad when the army enlisted reserve corps is called to the colors at the end of the current semester in May, it was disclosed today.

* * *

Included in the group are nine lettermen of the 1942 squad. They are Corwin Clatt, who led the Irish in rushing yardage; Bob Livingstone and Greighton Miller, halfbacks; Herbert Coleman, center; Bob McBride, left guard; Jerry Cowhig, fullback; John Creevey, quarterback; Luke Higgins, tackle, and Bill O'Connor, guard.

* * *

The reserves are Marty Brutz, guard; Bill Huber, end, and John McGinnis, end. The freshmen are Steve Nemeth, quarterback; Charles Shimer, halfback, and Thaddeus Budinkiewicz, tackle.

Sport Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The business of covering the New York baseball "beat" starts about 2 p. m. in Eddie Brannick's office and usually winds up several hours later four blocks down 42nd street in the hotel where the writers are rehearsing the show for their dinner next month. . . . The scribes drift into the Giants' headquarters, make themselves comfortable, toss out routine queries whether there's any news and then discuss anything from baseball to Bizerte.... In ordinary years there'd be a daily announcement that Joe Sorearm had signed his contract and promised to win 20 games, but this season the Giants are the only club that has mailed out contracts, because of uncertainties about salary regulations. . . . They haven't reported any rephes.

Eventually someone asks "Going across the street?" and the group departs for the Yankee offices.... The chairs aren't padded in the square office where drum-beater Jack Slocum holds forth and two big leather settees are beginning to show their age . . . Slocum gives out routine announcements, such as yesterday's news that the battery men will begin training before the rest of the squad, but if there's any important information, President Ed Barrow does the thinking for the club. . . . Eventually the crowd winds up in Barrow's sanctum anyway while Ed makes pungent replies to questions . . . "Was it your idea or Joe McCarthy's to have the pitchers come in early?" he is asked. . . . "I'm not manager of this club," sputters Barrow. . . . "I thought of it and called McCarthy and he agreed.

Andy Coakley, the veteran Columbia coach, is visiting around and stops to air views on training in the north. Andy is opposed to heavy gym work but he favors running "or anything for the legs" and suggests that swinging light Indian clubs is a help to pitchers.

* * *

Eventually this confab breaks up, too, as the scribes head for their offices to write what news they've collected. . . . It takes a lot of time for what you get. . . . But, after all, what's time when there's no news anyway?

Hutson Again Awarded Honor

Sets Another Record In Pro Grid Circuit.

CHICAGO—(NS)—Don Hutson, the Green Bay Packers' pass-snatching ace, today became the first player in the National Football league to win the Joe F. Carr trophy for the second consecutive season.

The league's most valuable player trophy, commemorating the late founder and former president of the professional football circuit, was awarded Hutson by sports writers representing each city in the league. He received six first place votes for 30 points. Bill Dudley, Pittsburgh Steeler halfback, won second place with 18 points, and Sammy Baugh, Washington Redskins' quarterback, was third with 15 points.

Previous winners of the trophy were Mel Hein, New York Giants' center, in 1938; Parker Hall, Cleveland Rams' halfback, in 1939, and Clarence Parker, Brooklyn Dodgers' halfback, in 1940.

The award came almost on the eve of Hutson's 30th birthday Sunday. During the 1942 season Hutson kept league statisticians busy checking possible record breaking performances. He was credited with 17 league records last season and may have 18 unless Jack Mander's reported mark of scoring in 25 consecutive games proves correct. Hutson has scored in 25 straight games.

PENGUINS WIN

YOUNGSTOWN—(AP)—Youngstown college cagers edged Kent State 59 to 57 last night. Youngstown led 32 to 23 at the half but Kent rallied and pulled up within two points of the winners before Youngstown took command in the final 10 minutes.

Victory Loop All Tied Up.

Sun Glow Deadlocked With Dominion Five.

Sun Glow jumped into a first place tie with the Victory bowling league last night at Colony alleys with Dominion Electric, scoring a 3-0 win over Hartman Electric while Dominion was dropping a 1-2 decision to Colony.

Edmonds of N. Y. A. set the league scoring pace with a 570 series of 132-214-224. D. Sonner had high game of 227.

STOCK MARKET CONTINUES ON UPWARD TREND

Moderate Advance Discovered In Fairly Active Opening; Bank Clearings Drop.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The direction was moderately upward in today's early stock market proceedings.

At a fairly active opening gainers of fractions included U. S. Steel, Loew's, U. S. Rubber, Western Union, Boeing, North American, American Tobacco "B" and American Water Works.

Trend analysts studied the Dun & Bradstreet compilation disclosing bank clearings for 23 cities during the week ended Wednesday exceeded the total in the comparable 1942 period by 6.2 per cent but were slightly under the preceding week of the current year.

Holders of carrier shares noted the survey of the association of American railroads indicating class I lines put 63,009 new freight cars and 712 locomotives in service throughout 1942.

Errol Flynn on Witness Stand

For the first time since his trial on rape charges began in Los Angeles, screen actor Errol Flynn took the stand and flatly denied he attacked Peggy La Rue Satterlee, 16-year-old Hollywood showgirl, one of the two girls accusing him. Flynn's chief defense counsel, Jerry Giesler, left, is shown questioning Flynn.

WEST THRILLS EASTERN BOYS

Soldiers From Big Cities Say They May Decide to Move Into Open.

DENVER —(INS)— With thousands of young Americans getting their first taste of life in strange sections of the country at army camps far away from home, one of the questions most interesting to the entire nation is:

Where will the soldiers want to live after the war?

To the western part of the United States, particularly, this question and the answer advanced today by Corp. Gordon Crowe, editor of the Fort Logan, Colo., News and Views, has assumed major importance.

Thousands of soldiers drafted and enlisted from eastern metropolitan centers have swollen the population of the "wide open spaces" to a new high.

Will they go back to the east to settle down when the army releases them?

Corporal Crowe doesn't think so. He cites as an example of many cases the conversation of one "city boy."

"He has only been at Fort Logan two days and this is his first trip to town," relates the camp news editor.

"'Gee, what a country,' he says. He's from Brooklyn. He's only seen so much grass, countryside and celestial beauty in moving pictures.

"'I'd like to spend the rest of my life in a place like this,' he says, with a note of envy in his voice. 'Yeah, I'd like to bring my girl out for a drink of this fountain of youth.'

"En route from the eastern seaboard to Fort Logan, he didn't have much to do, so he wrote his girl a hundred-page letter. In it he described the changing scenery."

"That was some trip,' the soldier went on. 'I saw plenty of things I've never seen before. Guess this war will be good for me in a way. I've certainly done a lot of traveling so far and met some interesting people."

DOORKEEPER DIES

1,000 Religious Census Workers Get Instruction

also endeavor to contact such workers and see that they are equipped for the undertaking.

From five to 12 persons, many of them Mansfield ministers, conducted the training sessions after meeting earlier in the week at the Chamber of Commerce rooms for their own instructions. The group of colonels and majors totals 150 persons.

Census-takers were instructed to keep their conversation impersonal and adhere to factual information pertaining to the census in making their calls. Entering into controversy was discouraged.

The information gleaned through the census will provide churches with a working list from which to make calls on residents unaffiliated with any churches and expressing a preference for a particular denomination. The census is non-sectarian and the cooperating denominations represent Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths in the city.

Headed by a special census committee that developed through the Mansfield Ministerial association the campaign will be limited to three days and workers will be urged to complete their calls the first or second day.

The $800 cost of the campaign will be shared by the participating churches at an average of five cents a member. Both the cost of the campaign and the number of workers contributed by each denomination were based upon the per capita membership of each organization.

Schools used as workers' training centers included Johnny Appleseed and John Simpson Junior high schools; St. Peter's Catholic, Western, Bowman, Hedges, Madison high, Woodville and Newman.

WALKOUT ENDS

YOUNGSTOWN —(AP)— An agreement by unionists to resume contract negotiations ended an 18-hour walkout of the CIO United Steelworkers at the Commercial Shearing and Stamping company.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Drivers Fined — Robert Teets, New London, and Ralph E. Hawthorne, Cincinnati, arrested yesterday for speeding on U. S. Route 42 were fined $10 and costs in municipal court, state highway patrolmen said. Robert Hayes, Youngstown, paid a $25 fine in municipal court for driving an overlength truck.

Judge Warns Boys—Juvenile Judge Stuart Cramer yesterday warned two white and one colored boy of the Hedges school district concerning their association with a "gang" leader who has been into various kinds of mischief in the past few weeks. The leader may be charged as a result of his offense which include petty thievery, the judge said.

Will Deliver Map—County Superintendent Boyd Robinson will go to the office of the state board of education tomorrow to deliver in person the detailed map showing Richland county school bus routes.

THEATERS

Sea Thriller.

Tyrone Power and George Sanders again engage in battle in "The Black Swan," showing at the Ohio. They began the fray with fists and saber in "Son of Fury," and they take to swords in the current film based on Rafael Sabatini's swashbuckling drama of piracy on the high seas. Laird Cregar, Maureen O'Hara, Anthony Quinn and Thomas Mitchell top the supporting cast.

Shocker Program.

"Dr. Renault's Secret," showing at the Madison as half of a double shocker bill, presents J. Carrol Naish, John Shepperd and George Zucco in the astounding story of a man-made monster who dared to love. Shepperd plays a young American doctor, who goes to pre-war Paris to collaborate with an eccentric French scientist and gets more thrills than he had expected. Naish plays the monster. James Ellison and Heather Angel appear in the second picture, "The Undying Monster."

Western Drama.

Featuring the Three Mesquiteers the Park attraction, "Code of the Outlaw," opening today concerns three plainsmen who are drafted into service by a mining town to uncover thousands of dollars which have been stolen from a prominent citizen. A hot-tempered young son of an outlaw furnishes plenty of obstacles before the money is recovered. Tom Tyler, Bob Steele and Rufe Davis head the cast.

Spy Drama.

The deadly schemes of a Nazi spy ring to murder a counter-espionage agent motivates the action in "Secret Enemies," the Ritz attraction. Craig Stevens plays the agent who unwittingly reveals his plans for trapping the enemy to a girl-accomplice. Faye Emerson plays the accomplice and others in the cast include Robert Warwick and Monte Blue. "Dangerous Lady," the second attraction, features Neil Hamilton and June Storey.

the changes. Drivers were responsible in most cases for recommendations which led to the curtailments, Van Tilburg said.

Only in one case did the factor of a traffic hazard enter the picture, and that concerned an "unofficial" stop, according to Van Tilburg. That instance concerned a so-called "courtesy stop" at the east end of the Park avenue east subway, which created a great traffic hazard, he said. There will be no further stops at this point.

"Driving in intermediate gear, which is necessary in starting after a stop produces a strain on mechanical apparatus far greater than continuing in 'high'," Van Tilburg continued.

URGES ENROLLMENT

COLUMBUS—(AP)—High school youths expected to enter the armed services after graduation should be encouraged to enroll in pre-induction courses during the next school semester, Kenneth C. Ray, state education director, said today.

MASONIC TEMPLE SWEPT BY FIRE

Loss Estimated at $75,000 in Sandusky Blaze.

SANDUSKY —(AP)— Fire swept the Masonic temple building early today, causing damage estimated unofficially at $75,000. The temple housed all masonic lodges, the chamber of commerce and business offices.

Shortly afterward, fire in the summer resort section at Rye Beach destroyed several beach cottages.

RULE AGAINST PAYMENT

TIFFIN —(AP)— Seneca county commissioners decided they would not pay salaries of former County Auditor John C. Harriman and County Engineer Gerald Fling now in military service.

ROCKEFELLER FRIEND DIES

SOVIETS DRIVE CLOSE TO KEY OIL FIELD AREA

Allies Make Four Air Attacks on Hitler War Industry In 36 Hours.

vanced 11 miles and clashed with Axis rearguards near Sabratha, 41 miles west of fallen Tripoli and less than 60 miles from the Libyan-Tunisian frontier.

On the western flank of the two-way Allied "squeeze" movement, rains hampered operations in Tunisia but American troops were reported to have advanced six to nine miles in the Ousseltia valley region, 52 miles inland from the Gulf of Gabes coast.

Dispatches said the Americans had brought relief to French troops cut off east of a mountain pass between Ousseltia and Pont Du Fahs, 37 miles to the northeast.

Reports from widely-separated points indicated that the Axis was preparing for further withdrawals in Russia and North Africa.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, broadcast a report from Geneva that Italy had requisitioned all merchant marine coastal ships, fishing schooners and private motor boats for immediate transfer to Sicilian ports, with a quick run of Tunisia. These, admittedly, might be for reinforcements, but heretofore the Axis has relied chiefly on planes to strengthen its armies in that area.

London heard the Germans were massing escape boats and barges at Novorossisk, Black sea naval base, to transport their armies out of the Caucasus if the Russians captured Rostov.

Radio Maroc, in French Morocco, broadcast Swedish reports that Hitler had decided to give up personal direction of the German armies—now that his vaunted "intuitive" powers have failed—and that the Nazi general staff had planned a withdrawal of several hundred miles to a new line extending from Kursk to Kharkov through Dnieperopetrovsk to the Crimea and Sevastopol.

Soviet headquarters said the great German base at Rostov was threatened by a new Red army spearhead which raced 40 miles along the railway from Salsk to Ataman, only 60 miles southeast of the port.

Other Soviet columns were reported bearing down on Rostov at points 70 miles north of the city and 56 miles to the east, on the lower Don.

With at least half a dozen offensives already swirling along the 1,200-mile battleline from Leningrad to the Caucasus, the Red armies unleashed the new drive toward the Maikop oil fields from Tuapse to the southwest.

Far to the north, in the Voronezh sector, the Russians reported that 5,000 Axis troops including high officers surrendered after a short battle, making a total of 69,000 prisoners taken in that area.

Axis Reports Allied Drive In Tunisia

LONDON—(AP)—An American attempt to drive a wedge between the converging armies of Marshal Rommel and Col. Gen. Jurgen Von Arnim in central Tunisia was suggested by Axis reports today as the Allied air arms resumed lethal sweeps from the North African battle lines to Italy.

The Vichy radio said last night that the United States forces originally concentrated on Tebessa, Algeria, 150 miles southwest of Tunis, had begun an offensive.

A Berlin military spokesman was quoted by the German radio this morning as saying the Americans were "planning a major offensive." Presumably such a drive would be toward the Gulf of Gabes, a relatively vulnerable sector on the line of Rommel's retreat.

The British eighth army continued its drive toward Tunisia and its patrols were reported in contact with the enemy in the Sabratha area, 41 miles west of Tripoli and less than 60 miles from the Tunisian-Tripolitanian border.

Allied communiques reported air raids on Italian harbors and rail communications.

British, French and American air forces made a series of attacks on Nazi ground forces, blasted Bizerte naval base and bombed two Italian destroyers 100 miles off Tunis, leaving one burning and in a sinking condition, a spokesman announced at Allied headquarters in North Africa.

Report Red Army Enters Petsamo

LONDON—(AP)—The Morocco radio broadcast a report today credited to "a Swedish source" that the Red army had entered Petsamo, Finland.

The broadcast was heard by the Associated Press.

The port of Petsamo, and the district of the same name, are above the Arctic circle in the narrow bit of Finland which separates Soviet Russia from far northern Norway. The port, some 65 miles northwest of Russia's port of Murmansk, is Finland's outlet to the Arctic ocean.

GARMENT STRIKE ENDS

NEW YORK (INS)—The strike of ladies' garment workers in New York which threatened to tie up all production in the city's largest industry was at an end today, following a war labor board order branding the walkout a violation of labor's "no strike" pledge to the president.

Speaks Tuesday

A. J. KARNUTH

Naturalization Director Talks At AAUW Meeting

A. J. Karnuth, director of immigration and naturalization service for the Buffalo district that includes Richland county, comes to Mansfield next Tuesday to address an open meeting at Grace Episcopal church sponsored by the American Association of University Women.

He will speak in the Sunday school rooms at 7:30 p. m. on the subject "Immigration and Naturalization in War Time." The meeting is open to all men and women interested in vital immigration problems.

Karnuth has been associated with the immigration and naturalization service for 25 years and has been Buffalo district director for the past 15 years. The district embraces the territory stretching approximately from Oswego, N. Y., to Lorain, O., on the water front and includes Richland among the Ohio counties in the territory.

representing the highest honor the association can bestow.

The brief ceremony was witnessed by approximately 175 J. A. C. members and their "bosses," gathered in the Westinghouse cafeteria. Hollingsworth was program chairman.

The presentation preceded an address by A. C. Horrocks, counsel for the public relations department of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, in which he scoffed at thoughts of a quick and easy victory over the Axis powers.

"It will take us years to whip the Japs down to where they belong," he said. "The conflict could end much sooner than that, but if we are to exterminate completely the "yellow devils" from the face of the earth, we can expect a long and bitter fight."

Horrocks warned that despite recent defeats, Germany is still a potent foe.

In speaking of a post-war world, Horrocks said that it was natural to expect the United States to play the leading role "American ingenuity is the greatest in the world," he said. In the last century Americans have patented four-fifths of the world's inventions. When Hitler wants something new, he points a gun at a weak neighbor and takes it. We whisper in the ear of some great scientist and he comes up with a product beneficial to all mankind."

The speaker predicted a revolution in transportation after the war. He said that today there are more airports and landing fields in the world than railroad depots. "After the war ends, we will possess between 220,000 and 250,000 planes," he started. "What are we going to do with them?"

Horrocks said he believed we would use synthetic rubber for the next 10 years. He said that the cost of a tire made of this substitute will be only about seven per cent more than one made of crude rubber.

"Even if our fondest dreams come true and the war ends this summer, we will still be unable to obtain many commodities. We must remember that people in Greece and China are literally starving to death," Horrocks said.

Rev. Grover E. Swoyer opened the program by giving the invocation.

Mayor W. J. Locke spoke briefly, commending the association for its splendid work.

Chairman Martin Merschdorf gave the annual report, listing the high spots of the association's activities for the year.

Ned Brooks, charter member, presented the service roll to the organization. It contained the names of 72 members now in the armed forces.

Louis Bromfield was awarded an honorary membership in the organization. He was not present to accept it, however. Other honorary memberships were awarded to Merle C. Pecht, Eliot, Joy Herbert, C. L. Van Derau, John G. Routzon, R. H. Sotherland, G. W. Stephens, Frank Vild, George Draffan, and W. C. Mead.

'PUTZI' NOW ADVISES U. S.

Former Hitler Friend Helps With War Effort, Guarded From Nazi Vengeance.

fstaengl to a Canadian concentration camp, where his release was arranged last summer so his great knowledge of the Nazis could be used against Hitler.

Hanfstaengl's duties, it was learned, include interpretation and analysis of Nazi propaganda, newspaper articles and the speeches of men like Hitler, Goebbels, and Goering. His advice is also sought on how best to communicate the war aims of the United Nations to the great mass of the German people.

The former Hitlerite has been well guarded since being brought to Washington from the Canadian concentration camp. Every effort has been made to protect him against Hitler's vengeance.

Educated at Harvard and husband of an American wife, it is understood that Hanfstaengl volunteered his services once the United States entered the war. A very thorough investigation was conducted into the sincerity of his motives and his offer accepted when government officials became convinced that he now sought the overthrow of Hitler.

CONTINUE HUNT FOR LOST PLANE

Searchers Find Body In Lake, Fail To Link It To Transport.

SAN FRANCISCO—(INS)—Searchers for the missing Hawaii-to-San Francisco navy plane, which disappeared with 19 persons aboard, today scoured the Clear lake area of northern California while officials attempted to identify a body found in the lake.

The body was at first believed to have been that of a crew member on the missing ship, but later reports made this appear unlikely.

Despite published reports, no wreckage had been found up to an early hour today. An "oil slick" on the lake which was reported by aerial searchers also was being investigated.

WASHINGTON (INS)—Sen Homer T. Bone (D) Wash., today planned to introduce legislation for the construction of another military highway to Alaska.

New Manager

Everett Paul Howard became the manager of the W. T. Grant store Saturday replacing A. J. Moore who was transferred to Atlanta, Ga. Coming to Mansfield from Kalamazoo, where he was an assistant Grant manager, Howard has had considerable merchandising experience. He was associated with the Woolworth company in the Cleveland district for five years and the Montgomery Ward chain in Detroit for three years. He holds a private pilot's license being a member of Detroit's Civil Air Patrol organization and Lions' club. He is married but as yet has not established permanent residence in Mansfield.

quiet, Allied warplanes renewed the assault on Japanese bases in the South Seas, blasting at Lae, Salamaua and Finschhafen, in New Guinea, and ranging far out to attack the enemy airdrome at Gasmata, New Britain, and targets on Kai and Aroe islands.

On the China war front, a Chinese army spokesman reported that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's forces had cleared out all Japanese troops who had penetrated the southwest China province of Yunnan around Talo.

Jap Installations At Wake Damaged

HONOLULU—(INS)—Severe damage has been inflicted on Japanese installations at tiny Wake island in the mid-Pacific by American B-24 Liberator bombers which turned an intended reconnaissance flight into a new successful bombing mission, it was disclosed today.

The air assault, the first against Wake since that small enemy outpost 1,900 miles west of Honolulu was blasted last Christmas Eve, was carried out on Monday.

Details of the new damaging assault were revealed by Col. William Matheny, of Carrington, N. D., leader of the attack force who also led the Christmas raid, upon his return to headquarters of the United States seventh air force in Honolulu.

Japs Attack U. S. Ships In Aleutians

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Two Japanese float planes today attacked Americsan ships operating in the western Aleutians, the navy disclosed, indicating that war operations are spreading throughout the Pacific.

The navy failed to disclose what type of vessels these were but mention of the fact that they were "operating" indicated that they were warships of some type on a mission in the area held by the Japanese in the north Pacific. No damage was suffered by the U. S. ships.

At the same time, the navy said that American ground forces on Guadalcanal continued their advance westward against stiff enemy resistance and in recent action killed 40 Japanese and captured five prisoners and some equipment.

JUST FRACTION

Wickard Says Russia Got Only Tenth of Butter Army Received.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Butter shipments to Russia last year were only a fraction of the nation's supply, Secretary Wickard has disclosed, and he believes there is no justification for any criticism of the amount sent to the United States ally.

The secretary of agriculture in reporting 1942 butter shipments to Russia were 17 million pounds, said "there has been criticism of our sending even that much." He disclosed the amount was "about one-tenth as much as our army required, and less than one per cent of our total supply."

Others at the conference included Lieut. Gen. B. B. Somervell, commanding U. S. army services of supply; Lieut. Gen. Sir Hastings Ismay, chief of staff to the office of the British minister of defense, and W. Averill Harriman, U. S. lend-lease co ordinator in England.

FDR 'Confident' After African Parley

(By Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA—Lieut. General Dwight D. Eisenhower announced today receipt of a message from President Roosevelt declaring he was returning from North Africa to the United States with renewed confidence that American soldiers "shall be victorious."

The message, addressed to American soldiers in North Africa by the commander in chief, said:

"My brief visit to North Africa has given me increased assurance and a deeper feeling of pride in the leaders and men of the American armed forces.

"The officers and men who landed with the initial assault, those who are now carrying on at the front in Tunisia, and those who are training themselves for future combat are deserving of the highest commendation.

"I could not but note your alertness, your smartness and the pride you take in yourself and your splendid equipment. I return to the United States with renewed confidence that the American soldiers, equipped with the best equipment the world can produce, led by men who have proved themselves in battle, and all imbued with the will to win, shall be victorious.

"Officers and men of the armed forces in North Africa—I commend you.

"President Roosevelt, commander in chief."

Chinese Official Praises Parley

CHUNGKING—(AP)—Foreign Minister T. V. Soong hailed the Casablanca conference today as insuring unremitting offensive operations against the Axis nations.

He said in a statement:

"To the confusion of Germany, Italy and Japan the year 1943 will prove that the United Nations are no longer on defense but possess a burning determination and ever-expanding strength to encompass the unconditional surrender of the aggressor nations.

"All are resolved that from now on the war will itself be unremittingly carried to the enemy equally in the far east and in Europe."

first giving several conflicting versions of his actions on the night of the killing, later beginning a confession, contradicting it and eventually repudiating it.

"There is now no doubt whatever in our minds that Folkes is the slayer," the detective declared.

Rasmussen said Folkes' statement told of a deal made with a man on the train who assertedly informed the cook he had to get Mrs. James "out of the way" and offered him $1,000 to "do the job."

Folkes said the man first asserted he was Mrs. James' husband, Rasmussen reported, but later the Negro cook referred to him only as "the other man." Ensign James was not on the train with his wife.

Before Folkes signed the statement, Rasmussen said, a psychiatrist, Dr. Paul De River, was called in to examine the Negro. Dr. De River pronounced him "sane but of the emotional, braggart, exhibitionist type."

RMY BRIDES BIG PROBLEM FOR UNCLE SAM

ıpid Presents Headache For USO Clubs From One Coast To Other.

By JANE COCHRAN
(INS Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—Cupid is having banner year—but he's proving be merely a first class head- ıe to the town fathers of many American city.

Weddings reached an all time gh of 1,800,000 during 1942, sta- ticians estimate, and the groom s in uniform in a majority of ese weddings. Thousands of ese "war wives" packed up their ongings after the honeymoon d moved to cities and towns ar the camps where their ser- e men-husbands were sta- ned.

And that's when the trouble began.

The town, more than likely, was already overflowing and services were strained to the utmost. The new bride, who expected to move into a small but modern apartment, was only able to find a small furnished room, and she was lucky at that.

She was prepared to live on a budget, but the budget was doomed before it began. Prices of everything were above her expectations and demand exceeded the supply.

Military duties tied her husband to his post for long hours and she became increasingly lonely. She missed her hometown friends and found few opportunities to make new ones.

Civic, church and social groups, as well as the local USO club came to her and in solving these problems, as best they could—then the crowning difficulty came up—her husband was suddenly transferred to overseas service. She must either find a job or pack up her belongings and go back home, and she must do it without her husband's aid.

"Service wives, whose devotion to their husbands brings them hundreds of miles in order to be near their men, present a multitude of problems," Mrs. Pearl Case Blough, secretary of USO Work with Women and Girls, declared. "Husbands in uniform make their wives' problems their own. Hence these problems of army and navy wives strongly affect the moral of their husbands."

She revealed that USO clubs from coast to coast are rendering a service to husbands in the armed forces in coping with the problems of their wives.

"By opening the door of USO clubs to service men's wives, the loneliness of these women is much relieved. Discussion groups are organized where child care, nutrition, books, music or world affairs are talked about. Informal social gatherings give a chance for the wives to know each other and meet residents of the town.

"Wives living in dreary rooms have the privilege of cooking meals in the USO club kitchen, entertaining their friends in attractive USO club lounges," she added.

In Tacoma, Wash., a soldier had been shipped to Australia after one peek at his baby in an incubator at a hospital. The wife was living in a dismal walk-up apartment.

Through the initiative of club workers, a friendly family opened its home to the young mother. When the infant had gained normal weight and could leave the hospital, the mother returned with her baby to her home in another state.

But the serviceman's wife is a good soldier, too—she takes the hardships with a smile for the sake of a few precious weeks or months with her husband.

Splendid Cough Syrup Easily Mixed at Home

It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking.

To get quick and satisfying relief from coughs due to colds, mix this recipe in your own kitchen. Once tried you'll never be without it, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, known for its effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid medicine and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, it is amazing. You can feel it take hold in a way that means business. It loosens phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Officer Suggests Keeping Mouth Shut After Teeth Are Lost.

SCOTT FIELD, Ill.—(AP)—Two soldiers from here were given a ride to town by a passing motorist. When the soldiers left the car, the motorist found a set of upper teeth on the seat.

He returned them to the camp officers, who pointed out this moral:

When riding with strangers, keep your mouth shut.

The earth is the fifth largest planet of the solar system.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, JANUARY 28, 1943.

A bigger peanut crop is among the 1943 objectives—but not of the politician variety.

One trouble results from people assuming that even an unknown brand of coffee should taste like coffee.

It is explained that "a simple majority" of senators can confirm the nomination of Eddie Flynn as minister to Australia—and the adjective seems well chosen.

Casablanca Takes the Spotlight

WHETHER the "big news" about the Casablanca conference, released at 10 o'clock Tuesday night, justified the record-breaking advance ballyhoo, is a debatable question, with the field wide open for unbiased or biased expression of views.

The mere fact that President Roosevelt smashed another precedent by making a 5,000-mile airplane hop from Washington to North Africa, was in itself a "big story"—but not sufficiently "big" to merit the obvious showmanship displayed in the Hollywoodian build-up of public curiosity in the 10 o'clock "release."

The meeting of Generals Giraud and De Gaulle, as representatives of conflicting views among the Fighting French, was also an impressive incident—but one that could have been as well handled in the ordinary flow of news.

Agreement by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill that the war is to be fought through to "unconditional surrender" by Germany, Japan and Italy, is no more than an emphasized re-statement of previously avowed aims, as are also the assurances of all possible aid to Russia and China.

That there was an element of considerable danger in such a trip, not only for Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill, but also for all of the highly important persons drawn together for the conference, cannot be doubted, and it may be questioned whether the head of a nation is justified, as a matter of individual decision, to subject himself to unnecessary peril while charged with such great responsibilities.

The questions being most frequently and seriously asked are whether the accomplishments of the Casablanca conference could not have been as satisfactorily and as secretly attained in Washington as in Morocco, and whether it is to become the government policy to use circus promotion methods in connection with prospective news releases.

Time Change Will Cause Confusion

CONFUSION is quite likely to result if the legislature goes through with the proposal to change Ohio's time standard from Eastern to Central, so that clocks can be set back an hour and still conform to national War time.

The opinion of Attorney General Herbert is to the effect that the state can legally fix any time it wishes, "for purely intra-state activities," which means that Central time would apply only to time reckoning in matters inside the state and would not be applicable to railroad schedules, postoffice business or other federal activities.

Uniformity in time is important and there should be no reason for inquiring what particular kind of time is meant—as was once the case when some clocks and watches were on "sun time," some Central standard and others on "daylight saving time."

Except for this uniformity, there is no real reason, of course, why each family shouldn't decide on its own time standard, as in the instance of one clock that seemed rather erratic. "What's the matter with that clock," the owner was asked. "Nothing's the matter with it," he replied, "all you have to do is understand it." Then he explained: "All you have to know is that when the hands point to half past three and it strikes four, it's a quarter of five."

Which seems to be about the sort of thing the legislature is cooking up for Ohioans.

Approve Flynn In Mild Way

THE SENATE foreign relations committee divided, by a 13 to 10 vote, in approving President Roosevelt's nomination of Edward J. Flynn as minister to Australia and the president's "roving ambassador" in the southwest Pacific.

Fortunate for Eddie that it's his eligibility for entrance into diplomatic circles that is being tested, rather than acceptance into a fraternal organization, as ten "black balls" out of a total of 23, would be considered quite an inglorious turn-down in any reputable lodge.

Prediction: Flynn's nomination will be confirmed by the senate—that's politics.

Heavy Pull on Auto Batteries

ANOTHER "check-up" to which attention of motorists is being directed, in addition to tires, is the battery—which, in many cases, is not being adequately charged, because of less driving at lower speed.

With various gadgets on modern cars making an added pull on the battery, the generator is frequently unable to store up sufficient current to meet needs, and cold weather is likely to develop "battery trouble" for drivers who neglect to have their battery checked and re-charged before the "trouble" starts.

The obligation to keep present cars in good operating condition as long as possible implies more regular servicing than many motorists have been accustomed to, and the battery and electrical system, if neglected, are among the common trouble-makers.

Girls Writing Sports, Imagine That!

THERE is really not much chance for the youthful male nowadays anywhere outside of the army or the defense plant. Arkansas and Pittsburgh universities are finding this out. Their student publications have had to turn the sacred sport columns over to girls, no boys being available.

Ordinarily the girls wouldn't mind it. What they object to now is having their mail addressed "Mr." Thus the new sports editor of the Pitt paper is much annoyed because people write to her as "Mr. Elaine Kahn." It troubles her correspondents less, apparently, that a boy should be named "Elaine" than that a sport column should be run by a girl.

But correspondents will have to get used to it. The girls, at least in colleges and schools, follow sports almost as closely as boys.

There's no truth in the rumor that Tropical Park and Hialeah race tracks down in Florida were closed because of demand for horse meat.

"HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

U.S.A. Responsibility After War

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—Assuming that the United States win the war in the reasonably near future, it also is assumed by post-war prophets generally that their present respective leaderships will do the planning for subsequent peace.

It's widely taken for granted that they'll be sufficiently tired out to agree pretty readily upon terms.

Forecasters point out, however, that the current group of 'em won't survive indefinitely; they're getting a bit elderly and it's surmised that their successors may not approve the terms they make with one another.

Today's "big four" consists of China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, the junior, aged 54; President Roosevelt, 60; Russian Premier Josef Stalin, 63, and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, 68.

That we Yankees and the British will get on well together is a reasonably safe bet. Nevertheless, Winston has served notice that he's no idea of "liquidating" John Bull's empire, which is more or less interpreted in Washington as an answer to White House hints at the desirability of independence for India.

The Soviets, while momentarily extremely friendly with western democracy, for obvious reasons, will have to undergo aplenty of overhauling to adapt 'em permanently to association with Uncle Sam.

China's too eccentric to be possible to calculate.

The Axis powers won't figure materially in negotiations for the later world. They'll be licked and will have to take what they get.

Independence Or Union?

An international union is what a lot of peace-ites are hoping for.

Some of 'em, though, say that that's exactly what's undesirable. Their theory is that a maximum of independence apiece will keep 'em more mutually harmonious than any sort of a hook up.

Washington wants to dominate the western hemisphere, from Cape Horn clear on up, perhaps with a few mild concessions to Britain relative to Canada. It doesn't want to be "bossy" as to the southward, but it would like to be influential, to say the least.

A split between Russian and Chinese authorities in eastern continental and the insular Asias is called for.

Britain's due to hang onto India. There y'are!

A world of four powers! The U. S. A., Britain, Russia and China!

That wipes Germany, Japan, Italy and some smallish countries off the map.

The smallish countries don't matter; they'll be glad of it.

We bigger ones may be jealous of one another.

The thing that worries our statesmen is the prospective necessity of maintaining a huge army navy and aviation establishment to police the whole earth. The little peewees, up to and including Britain, won't be able to do it. It'll be up to us—and expensive and troublesome and dangerous.

In effect, it'll make us rulers of our whole globe. It's quite a chore to take in hand.

Axis Won't Count.

As previously remarked, the Axis folk won't be much consulted concerning peace negotiations for quite awhile after the fighting's over, but later, if they seem to have learned how to behave, maybe we'll re-adopt 'em into the human family. This will be particularly likely as to the Italians, who manifestly haven't liked their totalitarian affiliations any of the time. The Germans, though, undoubtedly will have to show pretty convincingly fireproof signs of having learned how to be good before they'll be trusted again. And the Japs, from all indications, haven't got it in 'em ever to be civilized.

Well, on the theory that strife will end in a matter of another year or two, the chances are that President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill, Premier Stalin and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek will collaborate on the peace terms.

How successful they'll be, however, remains to be seen, and after they finally do agree on something in the nature of a compromise, it still will remain to be seen how fully their respective posterities will respect their bargain.

Anyway, the main responsibility will be Uncle Sam's.

The bulk of the task of keeping order permanently will fall on him also.

If he fancies that he'll be able to demobilize and get back to "normalcy", all the best judges of the situation predict that he's got a monumental disappointment in store for him.

Meningitis Increase

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

REPORTS are coming in which indicate that possibly an increase in epidemic meningitis may occur in the United States. The number of reported cases in 1942 is far ahead of those reported in 1941 and nearly twice those in 1940. We also hear that sporadic cases have begun to appear in the army camps.

In World War I we never were without meningitis in the army camps. In 1917, when I arrived at the base hospital in San Antonio for duty, I took over a ward which had 20 cases of epidemic meningitis and during my two years' stay there we always had one ward for these cases and we never had less than three patients, either active or convalescent, and often we had as many as 40.

There are two encouraging features of the possibility of such an epidemic which should be noted. As a matter of fact both of them are the result of observations made during World War I epidemics.

Can Be Treated Successfully.

First, the disease if taken early enough, can be successfully treated. In 1910, 95 per cent of the patients died. From 1917 to 1919, the mortality was less than 5 per cent due to serum properly administered. Since then we now have the sulfonamide drugs which have proved successful adjuncts to serum.

The second feature which should be noted and which will save a great deal of morbidity is that people can learn to be on the lookout for the disease and detect it in an early stage. Army surgeons should be and are especially alert to the possibility that a soldier who has a fever and who becomes drowsy and mentally stuporous should have a diagnostic spinal fluid test in order to determine whether or not the condition may be meningitis. This applies to civilian practice as well.

This may seem to be obvious, but it is astonishing how many cases of infectious disease are seen early by physicians and dismissed as being due to "influenza" or a "bad cold" when the condition is actually something very serious. I saw more cases of typhoid fever last fall than I had seen in the last 20 years and in about one-half of them the physician who was called in first diagnosed the situation as "influenza."

Epidemic meningitis is likely to occur whenever humans beings mass from different parts of the country and there is a wide interchange of human contacts. It is probably spread by carriers who have become immune to the germs they have in their own nose and throat. That is why it is particularly likely to break out in wartime.

The germs probably get into the nose, then into the blood, and through the nose, by way of the small openings made by the olfactory nerves into the coverings of the brain and spinal cord—the meninges. Here it sets up a pus infection which causes a depression of the entire nervous system.

Dave Boone Says:

WHO'S minding the White House?" is getting to be a question we can ask almost any time these days. It now develops that President Roosevelt has been in Africa for about three weeks. Not only that but he has quite a few American notables with him.

* * *

Winston Churchill and the president have been meeting in a historic episode that you wouldn't believe if you saw it in a movie scenario.

* * *

It is getting so an American soldier on foreign soil in any hemisphere can come in from guard duty and report, "Something's wrong out there tonight. I didn't see Roosevelt or Churchill anywhere around the front."

* * *

I hear Hitler went to bed the other night and left strict orders to wake him up in case his armies went ahead anywhere.

Interpreting the War News

Asiatics Suspect Atlantic Charter Is Designed Only for White Races

—By DE WITT MACKENZIE

BOMBAY—Out here where the east is very fast and regards the west as another world, there is much doubt as to the exact significance of the Atlantic Charter and consequently great anxiety over its application after the war.

To put it bluntly, there is a widespread idea that the charter is designed for the "white races" and that it doesn't apply to Asiatics.

I am not talking about India alone, but also of China and the smaler countries. It is a shocking fact that one is constantly having it impressed upon him that people out here not only are in doubt, but many of them are downright suspicious.

The suspicions are expressed in divers forms. Some say they believe Britain and the United States actually have post-war exploitation of the Orient in mind. Others are more charitable through equally pessimistic in the view that once the Allies have won the war they will forget to implement the charter in the Orient.

Russia also is suspected. However, out here as back in the West, the Soviet is an enigma to a good many folk who are inclined to regard the U. S. S. R. as a lone wolf and note that it has interests both in the Occident and in the Orient.

The Japanese, of course, are exploiting the "white race versus the Asiatics" theme for all it is worth. Daily they broadcast this poisonous seed of propaganda and not all of it falls on stony ground.

So far, as regards the United States, there is far less a disposition to charge her with having ulterior motives than to doubt her tenacity of purpose in carrying out the Atlantic Charter. I am constantly encountering the idea that America may have a return to isolationism after the war and leave Europe and Asia to cook in their own fat. I found that thought especially persistent in China when I was there recently.

* * *

MY DEFINITE impression is that the Orient generally regards Uncle Sam as mainly honest although there are those who wouldn't put a sharp horse deal beyond him.

In any event, there can be no doubt that this part of the world is leaning heavily on the United States not only to see it through the war, but to assist it in reconstruction after the conflict.

President Roosevelt's Four Freedoms and the Atlantic Charter are a pillar of fire which untold millions in the Orient are following despite vague fears that something will happen to disappoint them. It is amazing the way this bill of rights has captivated imaginations throughout the Oriental world. I encounter it at every turn as I travel from country to country.

Not unnaturally one's mind reverts to the closing days of the last war. I was on the British front in France and never shall forget how fighting men were sustained by President Wilson's Fourteen Points. Day after day officers sought me out and asked what was the latest word from the president for whose ideals they were fighting.

Probably many of the present doubts regarding the efficacy of the Atlantic Charter are really fears impelled by the unhappy developments growing out of the last war.

It is for this reason that I have reported this unwelcome news about the feeling in the Orient now. I believe it is something which could be remedied. To my mind the easiest way to do it would be through a categorical statement of assurance from the man with whom this new bill of rights is associated — President Roosevelt.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—From time to time in these columns, I have advised "If you don't agree, write your congressman." Perhaps I have done both congressmen and readers an injustice in not laying down a few basic rules.

Some congressmen justifiably go berserk over the letters they receive. One recently received a letter written in almost undecipherable longhand on two sides of 110 pages of legal-size stationery. On page 68, he gave up and doesn't yet know what his constituent was complaining about.

On the positive side, there are many things your congressman can and is glad to do for you. He can supply you with information, in pamphlet form, if not personally, about almost all the problems that are arising out of this war—rationing, victory gardening, Selective Service, Civilian Defense, how to go about getting commissions in the armed forces, how to obtain citizenship, what to do about obtaining government jobs under civil service, and a thousand other things.

He welcomes your opinions on wartime legislation, on matters considered controversial. And if you have legitimate business that merits your coming to Washington he can make appointments for you—provided you let him know far enough in advance.

IF YOU really want to get your communication considered by your representative or senator, here are some good rules:

State your case briefly and simply. If you are mad or glad, state your reasons—but quickly. Whom you know, who your relations are, even what party you belong to isn't of much importance. If you are a bigwig in your community, your congressman probably knew your name before you knew him.

Unless a matter is of such moment that it can't wait, don't telegraph. This is wartime. Anyway, letters receive just as much attention as telegrams, sometimes more.

DON'T join any "write-your-Congressman" movements on any subject. These have been used too often by so-called "pressure groups." Use your own mind and express your own views. Ask yourself: How would I vote if I were representing the majority of the voters in my district? Or, why couldn't I conscientiously vote that way? Settle that with yourself before you write a line. But just because you perhaps belong to the minority, don't think that your opinion isn't welcome or that it won't be given full consideration. There never was a period in this government when constructive criticism was given a higher rating in legislative and executive decisions.

Don't harass your congressman with villifications and recriminations. If you disagree, say so.

And finally, if you belong to a club or organization, an authorized letter by your secretary or president or one letter signed by the membership is much more valuable than a shower of individual letters stating the same case.

(Editor's Note: If you live in the 17th Ohio district, of which Richland county is a part, and wish to write to your congressman, address him: "Hon. J. Harry McGregor, House Office Building, Washington, D. C.)

Much Is Left Untold About African Confab

—By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

THE SUSPICION of some correspondents that highly important things were left unsaid in the official communique on the "unconditional surrender" conference at Casablanca undoubtedly is well-founded.

President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill met for 10 days with the highest military chiefs of the two allies. That length of time would not be devoted to the discussion of generalties. The communique, in fact, reveals that the two heads of state and their combined staffs worked out specific plans for offensive campaigns in 1943 and have scattered to their posts to put them into action.

The communique implicitly stated that the Allies are vowing to strike hard at the Axis in 1943, and at more than one spot. Where the blows will fall the enemy can only guess.

It is safe to assume that Africa and the Mediterranean theater of war figured prominently in the decisions reached. The fact that the conference was held in Africa, near the scene of combat, puts emphasis on that.

It is obvious that the great expeditionary force sent to Africa was not intended for a local operation. This force is being constantly increased.

THE AXIS is aware that when its forces are obliterated in Africa, as they inevitably must be, the next step will be invasion of southern Europe. What the Axis does not know is whether it will be through France, Italy, the Balkans or a combination.

Nor does that preclude an invasion of western Europe, perhaps simultaneously. Hitler must have been greatly perturbed by the communique's assertion that the conferees had decided to take the weight off Russia by engaging the enemy as heavily as possible "at the best selected points."

The phraseology points specifically to Europe, since that is the only place to engage Hitler on behalf of Russia. It seems to indicate that the Allies expect to have the African situation cleaned up before many months pass.

That does not mean the conquest of Tunisia is going to be a quick or easy task. The enemy is solidly entrenched in the northeastern corner of the country and Rommel's still not inconsiderable army is trying hard to effect a junction.

Whether Marshal Erwin Rommel will succeed is not entirely certain. If he is cut off in lower Tunisia, his fate is sealed and the Allied task in the northeast will be made easier.

A Farmer's Diary

He's Just Five

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I KNOW a little lad; I know his dad: I knew his grandpa and his great grandpappy. It's not the boy's fault he's the way he is—even a little chip must show markings from the old block.

No sire of his could disown our third boy, who is five. Bright, gray-blue eyes that can scowl or be impish with mischief. Fine, light brown hair that sticks out in every directon. An angular chin, full lips and a contradictory dimple. One tooth out, below. He is the gentlest natured of our boys, the quietest, most self sufficient. Angry, he fights hard and won't give up. He's a "self starter."

He heard his mother say that she wouldn't be the one to teach him to read before school age. Little eyes are tender, and 'precocious' an ugly word.

So what? So he taught himself to read.

And how? Why, by going around with any book that had a picture in it, pointing an insistent forefinger to the line of print below and demanding, "What does it say?"

Because older folks and children like to show superior knowledge, he soon knew many words by sight. Then he would read to his littler brother the words he knew, and fill in the spots between to suit himself. (If I ever need a proxy for this column I'll have one coming on? Sure—I thought of that, too.)

He coaxed his mother to let him write, "just once every day" with the family typewriter.

That went on until he could spell, could count, and had even written a letter to his grandmother. Then rationing caught up with him.

He's a living question mark. "What makes it go? Where did it come from? Why is your face red?"

He tags me like a shadow . . . just sticks his hand quietly into mine, and goes along. It's easier, often, to let him trail than to refuse his company. Even in the night, sometimes, he comes slipping downstairs—goes outside, like a veteran—then comes beside my bed and whispers "Daddy, my feet are cold." We both know what I'll do—only we don't tell. When, after a little, he scampers back up to bed, both Daddy and he are warmed by their secret understanding.

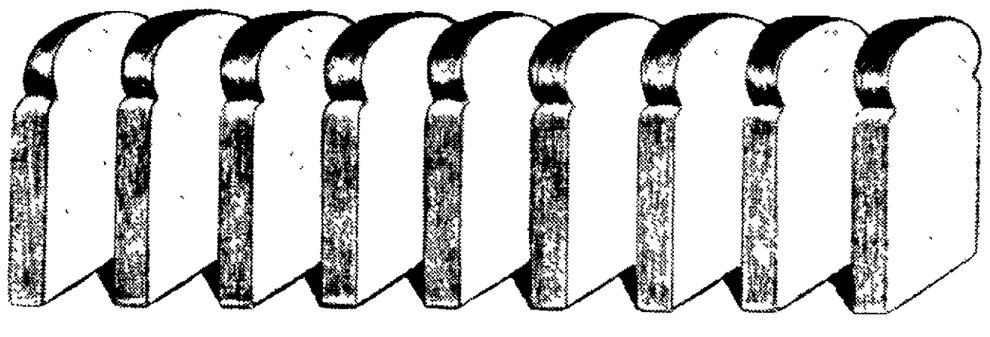
How To Slice Bread Evenly



AND AVOID WASTING UP TO 10% AT THE END OF THE LOAF

THIS IS WRONG

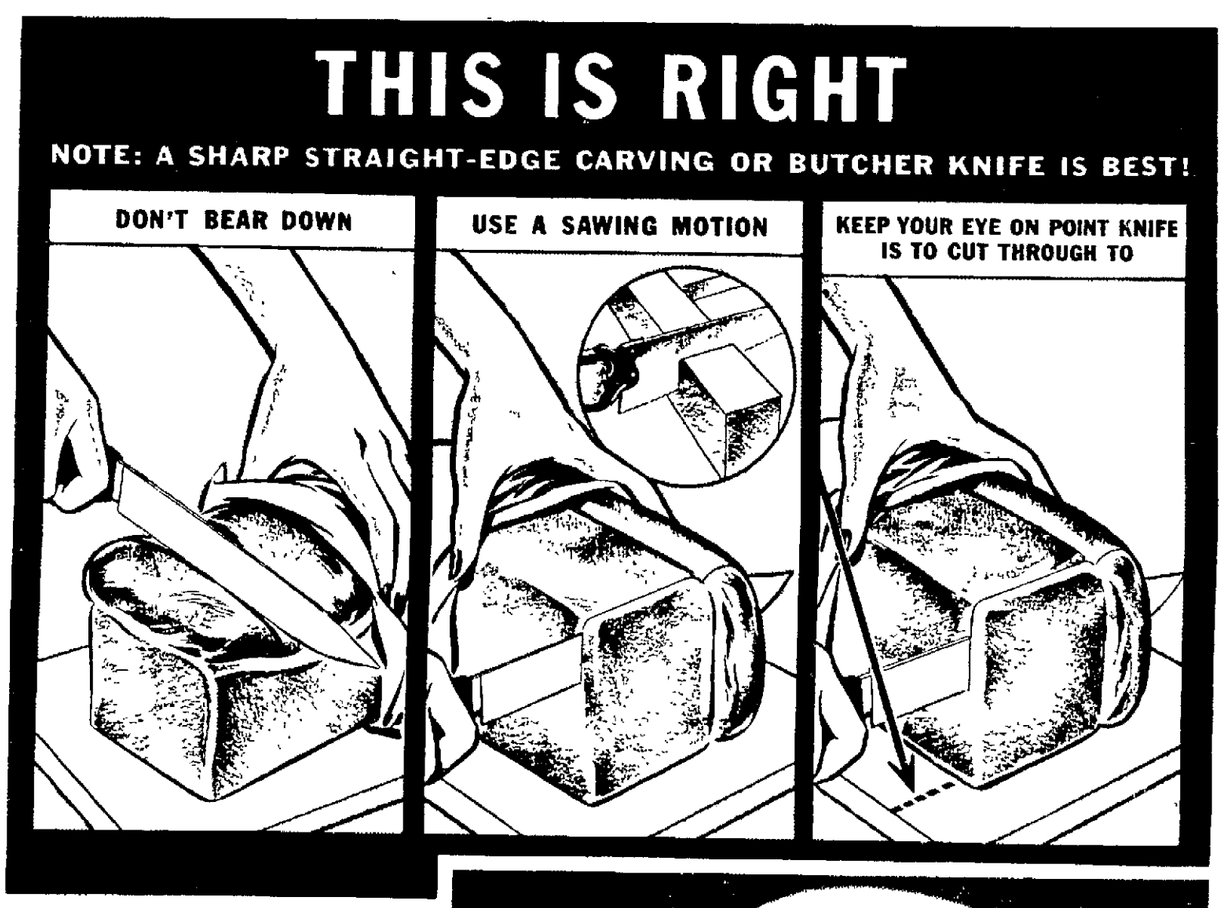
NOTE: A SHARP STRAIGHT-EDGE CARVING OR BUTCHER KNIFE IS BEST!



Thousands Proclaim Wonder Bread Now Better Than Ever

Because It Slices Better Because It Tastes Better —Due To "Slo-Baking"

This is the bread you hear people raving about everywhere now —the new Wonder Bread. Now better than ever because: (1) It is easier to slice—the texture is tender and firm. (2) It tastes better —the flavor is richer.

Both improvements you can detect the minute you try it. AND both due to the famous method of "slo-baking"—Wonder Bread is baked 13% longer than many ordinary kinds for lasting freshness

Doubly Fresh

You will find Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it and fresh when you eat it.

Fresh when you buy it because of better merchandising control —grocers everywhere can guarantee that the Wonder Bread you buy today is today's bread.

Fresh when you eat it because "slo-baked" for lasting freshness. And that's the quality you want for sandwiches.

Contains Vitamin B_1

Then, too, Wonder Bread contains Vitamin B_1. Which is necessary because the human system cannot properly convert the carbohydrate of bread into energy without it.

Mother Nature put Vitamin B_1 into wheat but, to make bread whiter, man took it out. Now—it is back where Nature intended.

Eat More Bread For More Energy

Probably the best low-cost source of energy — bread can be used on the table, in cooking and by serving more sandwiches.

Wonder Bread is made with finest ingredients and with expert skill by the famous "slo-baking" method. So you know it is good for you. Try it and you will discover it tastes good, too.

MRS. KIENE DISCUSSES WAR-TIME CAKE BAKING

Mansfield Women Cited for Perfect Attendance at Health for Victory Club Meetings During Past Year.

PROVING THAT "sweets" can be very considerate of ration coupons, Mrs. Julia Kiene, manager of the Department of Defense Nutrition and Home Economics at Westinghouse, baked an assortment of sugarless, butterless and practically eggless pastries, complete with wartime icings, at the meeting of the Health for Victory club in the Westinghouse auditorium Wednesday.

"Just because sugar, butter and eggs are rationed, or about to be, it doesn't follow that cakes, cookies and pies are gone for the duration," Mrs. Kiene told her audience. She encouraged homemakers to include "sweets" in the menus for the sake of morale, explaining, however, that wartime pastries do not have quite the same eye-appeal as their pre-war counterparts. But to compensate for lack of inch-high icings, whipped cream fillings and fancy decorations, Mrs. Kiene called attention to the fact that with 1943 cakes, cookies and pies, one can satisfy a sweet tooth without fear of facing the scales or robbing the ration card.

She recommended honey, corn syrup or molasses instead of sugar; shortening, drippings, and chicken or goose fat in place of butter. And to fill the gap left by unavailable packaged flavorings and spices the home economist resorted to orange, lemon and grapefruit rind.

To further stretch the ration coupons, Mrs. Kiene suggested deep-dish pies and pie crust made of suet. Calling it a "sacrilege to waste foods these days," she cautioned club members against the pitfalls of wartime cake baking and then demonstrated the steps the housewife should take to insure success.

"Wartime pastries are not substitutes," she said. "They are new cakes and call for new techniques."

Cakes baked during the session were won by Mrs. L. W. Nelson, 220 Lind avenue; Mrs. Alta Metcalf, Home road; Mrs. John A. Watery, 19½ Baldwin avenue; Mrs. Herbert Hazlett, 68 Wood street; Mrs. Marion Knapp, 466 Howard street; Mrs. A. T. Davis, 221 Clairmont avenue; Mrs. E. B. Davis, 514 East Fourth street; Mrs. Herbert W. Edwards, 54 Winwood drive; Mrs. A. Schaefer, 161 West Fifth street; Mrs. Thomas E. Schacher, 223 Rowland avenue; Mrs. Charles Baer, 236 Bartley avenue, and Mrs. Fred Zunter, 355 Ninth avenue.

One of the highlights of the meeting was the announcement of names of the women who have attended each of the meetings held during the past year.

They are: Mrs. Fred Ammeter, 635 Lexington avenue; Mrs. James Anderson, Pulver-List road; Mrs. Arthur C. Beer, R. D. 3; Mrs. Glen Bosh, R. D. 4; Mrs. Joseph Bradley, 319 Altamont avenue; Mrs. Esley Cleckner, R. D. 4; Mrs. W. P. Flegal, 38 Swanger avenue; Mrs. Vale E. Freeland, 180 Euclid avenue; Mrs. Julia Haag, 376 Marion avenue; Mrs. John Hardesty, 237 Parkway drive; Mrs. Carl Hochensmith, R. D. 4; Mrs. L. R. Hopper, R. D. 6.

Mrs. Bayard Jones, Lucas; Mrs. John C. Lorentz, 153 Ford street; Mrs. G. R. Masquelier, 458 Woodward avenue; Mrs. John Melching, 317 East Fourth street; Mrs. Carl Mowry, R. D. 1, Lexington; Mrs. Lyman Moore, 679 Arlington avenue; Mrs. Charles D. Myers, 314 Hedges street; Mrs. Harvey Myers, 529 Wayne street; Mrs. Oscar Otto, R. D. 4.

Mrs. E. G. Pankow, 71 Greenwood avenue; Mrs. Milo Patterson, 143 Reba avenue; Mrs. George S. Price, 65 Orchard street; Miss Donna Priess, R. D. 2; Mrs. Ray Pifer, 325 North Mulberry street; Mrs. James Rizer, 243 Ruth avenue, and Mrs. Joe M. Them, 289 First avenue.

Propaganda Origin Outlined at Study Club Meeting

A brief history and the origin of propaganda was given by Mrs. Hamilton Walter to 20 members of the Wednesday Study club and one guest, Mrs. Avery Hand, when they met at the home of Mrs. A. J. Reynolds, 177 West Second street.

The speaker cited the Trojan Horse incident as an early example of propaganda, stating that today's lines of communication have become vital means of propaganda. The seven-fold technique usually employed by propagandists was explained and examples given. Mrs. Walter then contrasted the methods of propaganda being used today in South America by North America, and by Germany.

"One of propaganda's meanest and most potent factors today is the short-wave broadcast," she said.

Tea was served at the conclusion of the program, with Mrs. Louis J. Ott pouring. The next meeting, Feb. 10, will be with Mrs. Ott at her home in Woodland.

P. T. A. Council Plans Civilian Defense Program

Jesse Clark, defense chairman of the P. T. A. Council, outlined the civilian war services program and how the group co-operates in the block leadership plan, which is being organized through the P. T. A. council and local units, to the P. T. A. council, when it met at the John Simpson junior high school, last night.

Transportation is the first program to be outlined. Mr. Clark also announced a meeting for zone and sector leaders Thursday, Feb. 4 at 9:30 a. m. at the American Legion hall, at which time one of the representatives from the O. C. D. of the fifth regional district, will be here to discuss this program.

Robert Jacoby and Thomas Schwartzkopf, from the vocational department of the senior high school gave the members an inside picture of their program in 1924 and 1925. The vocational department program was organized here with equipment totaling about $4,000. This was for a machine shop. In 1940 outlined equipment for national defense program was furnished by the government totaling $38,000.

When students are in their senior year, they are permitted to work in an outside shop every other week, for experience and study the alternating weeks.

Mrs. J. W. Basinger, vice president of the Ohio Congress of P. T. A. announced the founders day service to be held Feb. 21 at 7:30 p. m. in the Presbyterian church. Rev. Glenn Lewis will be the speaker. Mrs. Basinger also announced the appointment of Mrs. Andrew Rawson, as north central director due to the resignation of Mrs. George Tulk. The conference will be held in Elyria, Apr. 6.

The goverment does not want the P. T. A. to curtail its program because it is considered of definite importance in the War program. R. Y. Davis, state radio chairman, gave a short talk on radio, and announced the national P. T. A. radio programs.

The next council meeting will be Feb. 24 in the form of a vocational tea at the Bushnell school.

"The Authority on Authorities"

TWO GOOD REASONS

There can be two reasons for jumping sky-high during the bidding. One is that you feel sure your side can take a certain total number of tricks. The other is that you feel the opponents will be able to take a large number of tricks in their best suit and you therefore wish to keep them from finding out what it is. If your hand is generally strong, you don't care much about the second factor. But if it is powerful in only one suit, or perhaps only in two, then you have a double reason to hop.

	♠ 10 ♥ A 9 7 2 ♦ A 5 3 ♣ A 9 6 5 2
♠ K Q J 9 7 5 3 ♥ J 6 5 4 ♦ None ♣ Q 3	N W E S	♠ A 8 6 2 ♥ Q 10 8 3 ♦ 7 4 ♣ K 8 7
	♠ 4 ♥ K ♦ K Q J 10 9 8 6 2 ♣ J 10 4

(Dealer. East. Both sides vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
1. Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♣
Pass	2 ♦	2 ♠	3 ♦
3 ♠	5 ♦	5 ♠	Dbl
2. Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♣
Pass	5 ♦

What a difference between the bidding methods of the two players who sat in the South position when this duplicate board came along At No. 1, where the so-called "conservative" type of player held forth, he made a mere take-out of one more than necessary, to give his partner an idea his side might make a game. But in so doing, he let West into the bidding cheaply. Finding a fit with his partner, East also got into the activity, and the result was a contract on which East and West were set a single trick, with the loss of two in hearts and one in clubs, giving North and South only an insignificant 200 points.

At Table 2 South realized his side appeared wide open in both major suits, and he wanted to shut the opponents out of the bidding He did, and as his reward his pair made a game in diamonds, losing only one trick in each black suit

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, January 29

ADVERSE configurations of predominant plants make of this day a doubtful and difficult one, threatening the peace, happiness and progress of human affairs generally, both public and private. An evil and pernicious undercurrent menaces, particularly if intrigues, elusive and confused practices or behavior are indulged. Be alert to snares and pitfalls.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a fairly satisfactory year if they will persist in traveling the straight and narrow path, adhering to the accepted rules and regulations in business as well as private matters. The latter seem to be beset with peculiar or pernicious snares

There will be antagonism and want of approbation from elders and public powers.

A child born on this day should receive early education and discipline of an understanding quality, as it may be endowed with peculiar, erratic habits or tendencies, in its business as well as private contacts

Tomorrow's Problem.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Shall I go to the door?" I asked, as my father finished his injunction that I plan some pretended accident to Mary.

"No, I'll go," he said, with the courtesy he always accords a woman I did not catch his low-voiced colloquy with the man who had knocked, but after he had read a note the man brought he undid the night chain with a cordial, "Come right in."

The person who stepped in briskly was a short, slight, gray-haired man, nearer sixty than fifty, with bright blue eyes and a rosy tinge in his tan skin

He set down a large suitcase and said, "That's plenty heavy," with an infectious Hibernian grin "I'm glad for a chance to park it."

"You have to carry it only into the next room," my father said, then turned to me.

Meets Make-Up Man.

"Margaret," he said, "this is Mr. Halloran, whom we expected My daughter, Mrs. Graham, Mr Halloran"

"Mr. Underwood spoke of you to me, Mrs Graham, some time ago," Halloran said.

"And he told me you were the best make-up man in the country," I answered.

As he gave me a keen, appraising glance, I knew he was thinking of the night, not far off now, when, made up to simulate Lillian in deep mourning costume, I was to go in her stead to meet in a restaurant the men who held Marion in their power.

"He was too modest to tell you the truth," Halloran said with a twinkle, "I'll admit I'm second best, but there's nobody can touch Mr. Underwood in my line, although it isn't his regular profession

"While you're settling that point," my father said dryly, "I'll arouse your client, who is sleeping, and call you when he is ready. And—as I suppose Mr Underwood warned you from the moment you leave this suite you will forget that you ever entered it, or what you did here"

"Yes," Halloran returned "He told me this job was distinctly hush-hush, also dynamite"

"Especially the latter," my father said, "I have your pledge of silence?"

"I give you my word," Halloran replied solemnly, "never to speak to anyone of anything I do or witness in this suite"

"There's one exception," my father said. "You may discuss it freely with Mr. Underwood any time after tomorrow I want him to hear the details first from me."

"I'll remember," Halloran said, as my father went into my bedroom, then Halloran gave me another appraising look.

"It will be easy to fix you up so like Mrs Underwood," he said, "that your own husbands couldn't tell you apart" This is not boastfully but simply as a statement of fact he knew would be borne out by his work.

"I am sure of that," I said, as my father came back and said:

"Your client is ready for you now His name is Cyril Warner, and he will tell you what he wishes you to do. Now please come with me."

Halloran picked up the heavy suitcase and followed my father into the other room. In a minute my father reappeared and went direct to the door to the corridor.

"I shall be back as soon as I have gained Philip's consent to my plan, which probably will take some time," he said, "And you can take your time about planning that pretended accident or illness of Mary, for it will not have to be staged until tomorrow."

THE BOY FROM MAINE

By Katharine Brush

(Copyright 1943)

CHAPTER XIV

All through that spring, the inhabitants of Mitchell's Island talked about it, and Hobey's sister Sadie thought, I must write Hobey. She kept thinking that. It was hard to find the time, though, with all she had to do. There was too much to tell him, now that she had let it go so long. Here it was April, here it was getting on for May, and she still hadn't answered Hobey's January letter—the one from New York City, saying how he was going to work there. Now if she wrote him, it would have to be a proper answer to that letter, and not just about the accident—or wasn't it?—that had killed Rosalie's man.

That was the spring of Hobey's nineteenth birthday, which was late in April. He had been at Ruby's then for nearly four months. The arrangement had worked out well, too, so far. Fine, up to now. He kept his fingers crossed. He didn't see how things could keep on being good forever, or how he could expect them to. It wasn't reasonable.

The job was all kinds of a job, a mixture, even as Ruby had predicted; and he needn't have felt as sheerly lucky about it as she did. He had had to make it for himself—Ruby had purposely suggested nothing, once she got him there—and in his zeal to be as useful as he wished to be, and as he thought he ought to be for fifteen dollars and his board and room, he had in point of fact considerably overshot the mark. "He works too hard," Ruby said worriedly and frequently to Henry. "He's running himself ragged, the poor Kid. He never stops." But to Hobey she said only things like, "You're doing fine," or, "Nice going, honey." And she did not say even those things too often.

He drove the cars, for one thing—he had had to learn, but he was expert now—and when in May it developed that Ruby's regular chauffeur was going to stay in aviation, this became a permanent duty. It took most of his time, of course, but there were scattered intervals, stray quarter-hours and half-hours at the house, when he was anything. Bellhop, carpenter, mechanic, anything at all. Ruby had been right again—the odd jobs were innumerable, thanks to the general helplessness. It was like working in a kind of orphanage of adult infants, whose beseeching voices wailed for "Hoo-obey!" through the house, and through the day.

There had been one disappointment, and there still was—only errands ever took him to the cabaret nowadays. Except for driving Ruby down there, and occasionally going in with her to watch some tryouts in the afternoon, or a rehearsal on a Sunday, he had no more connection with the place than as though his employer had herself had none. He might be working for a housewife. It wasn't quite as he had thought it would be, and he was a little dashed about it, but whenever he brought the subject up Ruby replied emphatically that his days were long and full enough, for pity's sake; he couldn't work nights too; and anyway, what would he do around there if he did come down?

"You get to bed and get your beauty sleep," she said to him. "And say your prayers."

That was the second summer in a row that Ruby kept her Broadway cabaret running through July and August. Normally she closed in June, and went on a vacation; or else she moved her family and her troupe to Long Beach or Atlantic City or some such resort, and opened up a summer cabaret there. But this year was like last year, although for different and more joyful reasons. New York was full of post-war gaiety, and full of people and the troops were still returning, and everybody was still celebrating—and all in all, as Ruby said, no sensible saloon-keeper would leave her base at such a time, or dream of it.

"Not with this Volstead setting up nights in Minnesota bedding laws," she added darkly. "Next year I may be on a street corner with a tin cup, for all I know."

So there was no change in Hobey's established scheme of things, nor any intimation of a change through that first summer. Then there was a day at the end of August when he came home in the late afternoon, and everybody said, "Hey, Hobey, Ruby wants to see you . . ."

Ruby was beating a piano: the house was full of rhythm, emanating from overhead. This means that she was practicing in her own room—she called it practicing, though the word seemed absurdly humble for the superb performance. It consisted in trying out new songs, and working up the ones liked, devising new arrangements for them, changing them to suit herself.

Hobey started up the staircase, keeping the time, humming the tune. From the first landing, feminine feet were coming trotting down—small fat feet, crowded into fancy little shoes, so that the insteps bulged like muffins out of tins—and when he saw them, he remembered glumly that he hadn't had a chance to do his spelling lesson yet today. Nor was this recollection the non sequitur it seems. These were the feet of Clara, Ruby's niece, his English teacher.

She was thirty-nine years old, which she called twenty-seven—"And don't argue," she was apt to add. "I don't want any backtalk."

She now peered down at Hobey, narrowing her eyes to make out who he was, then opening them up wide in simulated indignation. "So!" she cried accusingly. "And just where do you think you're going! It's time for your lesson. I was just coming down to round you up."

Hobey explained, and said he would be right back down again. They stopped on the same step as he was speaking.

"I trust so," Clara said, not very confidently. "I know you and Ruby, when you get to talking, I'll give you ten minutes, and then I'm coming up with a lassoo. Did you write that theme I told you to write, by the way?"

"Not yet, I didn't."

"Damn it, speak English!" Clara said spiritedly.

"I mean I haven't yet."

"And why not?"

They both smiled. They were excellent friends. "Listen, have a heart!" Hobey said. "Can I write a theme in the middle of traffic? You only told me about that at lunch, and I went out right after."

"'ward," said Clara, "or 'wards.' But don't ask me which, because Teacher never did know. And watch that nasal twang of yours," she added, for the thousandth time.

"Okay, okay."

"Yes, and don't dra-a-awl!"

Hobey gave a kind of laughing groan. "The life I lead!" he said.

"The life I lead!" said Clara, with a loud groan of her own.

She continued on her way, and Hobey started up again, taking the steps two at a time. He was in shirt sleeves, being at home; he had removed his chauffeur's jacket and left it hanging on the newel post in the lower hall as he came through.
